CONGRESSMAN STANDS OUT IN LANDSLIDE

Veteran Re-elected in Face of Heavy State-Wide G. O. P. Majorities.

CARRIES HALF COUNTIES

Licking, Coshocton, Richland Votes Beat Woodward by Nearly 5,000.

A bulwark of the Democratic party in the face of heavy Republican majorities, Congressman William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown was re-elected yesterday in the 17th district by about 5,500 votes in one of the hardest fights of his long career in politics.

Carrying but three of the six counties in the district, including Richland, Ashbrook survived the G. O. P. landslide to defeat Walter B. Woodward of Bellville, avowed Townsendite.

Backed by Townsendites.

Woodward, who drew most of his support from Townsend supporters, lost Republican votes in Richland county because of his affiliation with the Townsend organization, observers declared.

Vote tabulations showed a number of Republican voters "scratched" their ballots to support Ashbrook who made the Townsend plan the major issue of his campaign.

(By United Press)

ALBANY, N. Y.—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman was re-elected to a fourth term by a plurality of less than 100,000 and Sen. Robert F. Wagner, author of many New Deal social reform measures, was returned to the senate, returns from the off-year election showed today.

With only 62 of the 9,055 precincts unreported, Lehman had 2,380,326 votes, compared with 2,292,231 for Thomas E. Dewey, the young Republican district attorney who led the strongest G. O. P. thrust in New York state since 1928.

Dewey announced he would not ask for a recount, although Lehman's lead of 88,095 votes was so small that Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine ordered the voting machines placed under a 24-hour guard, in case of a challenge.

Sen. James M. Mead, D., defeated Edward Corsi, R., for the senate short term, filling the vacancy caused by the death of Sen. Royal S. Copeland.

The Republican defeat was tempered, however, by gains else-

T. B. Funds Assured As County Puts OK on Levy

Half Mill Assessment to Raise $45,000 Approved By Vote of 14,414 For to 7,725 Against.

Amid the excitement of selecting officials for the next two years, Mansfield and Richland county voters took time yesterday to mark an "x" on a ballot to provide funds to care for the county's indigent tuberculosis patients.

By expressing their thoughtfulness for their fellow men, Richland voters provided that a dozen T-B patients who were returned to their homes here recently because the county had no funds, can be returned to a sanatorium for the proper hospitalization, and the others in need of supervised care will be taken care of for the next five years.

'Yes' Vote Nearly 15,000.

That little 'X' was marked on the ballot by nearly 15,000 persons yesterday, well above the necessary majority which was required by law to authorize a special levy of a half mill to raise $45,000 annually.

The issue, which carried in 86 of the county's 90 precincts, registered a favorable vote of 14,416 as against a negative vote of 7,725.

The levy was approved in Mansfield, 7,867 to 4,097, with greater strength shown throughout the county which approved the levy 6,549 to 3,628. In Shelby the levy carried by more than two to one. Shelby voters cast 1,587 for the levy and only 673 against it.

The four precincts which turned down the issue, one of which was in the city were, 6-E, Perry town-

City Says 'Yes' on Creation of Park Board by 2 to 1 Vote

Mansfield said "Yes" to the establishment of a board of park commissioners to control and manage the city's public park system at yesterday's election.

The commission plan of management was approved by a 2 to 1 vote which was 7,628 for and 3,804 against.

The special issue carried in all of Mansfield's six wards, winning with the greatest majority in the second ward, with a favorable vote of 1,185 to 290.

It was beaten in only one of the city's 50 precincts—3-B, where it received 74 negative votes to 58 for it. In precinct A of the fourth the question was tied with 111 votes each while in M of the first ward it had its greatest majority—unanimous—178 to 0.

By their action yesterday, the voters authorized Mayor Claude M. Hunter to create the commission by immediately appointing three members to the board.

The commissioners at the outset are to be appointed for terms of one, two and three years, with their successors to be appointed for full three year terms.

Mayor Hunter said today that he was a little shocked to find that "such a responsibility" of picking three men to have control over the parks system should fall his lot.

He explained that he hadn't yet given the matter any consideration and that it probably would take a "little time" to select the men capable of assuming the responsibility.

When selected and organized the park board will exercise exclusively all the powers and perform all the duties in regard to park property that is now vested in the service director.

DEMS SALVAGE 2 COUNTY POSTS

Mitchell Noses Out Friday for Commissioner, Lutz Wins Third Term.

Despite Republican majorities for state candidates, Richland county remained in the Democratic column in yesterday's election, so far as its county candidates were concerned, retaining C. L. Mitchell as county commissioner and Ralph C. Lutz as representative to the general assembly. Both are Democrats.

In contests that were in doubt until the final precinct was tabulated early today, Mitchell edged John C. Friday, his Republican opponent, by 202 votes, and Lutz won over Harry Maxwell, Republican by 396 votes.

The unofficial count gave Mitchell 11,745 votes to 11,543 for Friday, while Lutz polled 11,767 to 11,371 for Maxwell.

Norman L. Wolfe, Democratic auditor, was re-elected without opposition. He received 13,803 votes, more than any other candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Mitchell and Wolfe will begin four-year terms in January under provisions of a new state law which extends the administrations

Democrats Fold Up Big Quarters, G. O. P. Jubilant

While Republican headquarters hummed with activity this morning and plans for a victory dinner next week were being arranged, the spacious campaign and social headquarters of the Democratic party on West Fourth street, was being folded up and moved back to room 405 in the Walpark building.

Although Republican headquarters in the Warner building last night was crowded, the sweeping party victory was taken quietly. There was some applause as gains were made and leads piled up, but no noisy celebration.

The adverse weather cut down the attendance at The News-Journal's election party but the machinery of tabulating returns operated as efficiently as ever and those who defied sub-freezing temperatures were kept informed to the minute of the vote trend. Telephone operators at The News-Journal switchboard was swamped with calls throughout the evening and well into the morning.

50 Congress Seats Returned to G. O. P. Column; Gains Made in Senate.

(By Associated Press)

The Republican party hit the comeback trail of political power today by upsetting Democratic regimes in a dozen strategic states, among them Pennsylvania.

It delivered to the New Deal the first major election reverse since Franklin Roosevelt was chosen president six years ago. The Democrats, nevertheless, retained control of congress and more than half the governorships.

Along the Atlantic Seaboard, in the midwest and on to the Pacific Coast one Democratic administration after another toppled before the tide of votes.

About a dozen Republicans contested successfully for governorships now held by Democrats. Eight Republican aspirants won Democratic seats in the senate.

Congress In Switch.

As returns continued to come in, more than 50 house seats switched from the Democratic to the Republican side.

In the two biggest state elections—New York and Pennsylvania—the major parties split even.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, New York Democrat, won re-election over Thomas E. Dewey after exciting hours of vote-counting.

Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D., N. Y.), a staunch Roosevelt supporter, also outdistanced his Republican rival and Rep. James M. Mead (D.) was chosen to fill the seat made vacant by the death of Sen. Royal S. Copeland.

In nearby Pennsylvania, just about the reverse occurred. Gov. George H. Earle, who gave the state a "little New Deal," failed in his effort to unseat Republican Senator James J. Davis.

Arthur H. James, who campaigned on a promise to undo most of what Earle has done, was elected governor. His Democratic opponent was Charles Alvin Jones.

Taft Piling Up Majority of 160,000; Bricker Wins 77 Counties, Lead Over 100,000 Mark; Republicans Capturing Assembly Control.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—A Republican juggernaut co-piloted by John W. Bricker and Robert Alphonso Taft crushed Democratic New Dealism in Ohio today.

Bricker and Taft—two vigorous anti-New Dealers—rode into the governorship and U. S. senatorship, respectively, carrying with them a majority of Republican congressional and legislative candidates, all state office nominees and all but two supreme court aspirants.

The powerhouse victory that returned this politically strategic state to the Republican column wrecked New Deal Sen. Robert J. Bulkley and his running mate for governor, Charles Sawyer, also a close ally of President Roosevelt's administration.

Taft piled up a majority that was expected to exceed 160,000. He carried 78 of Ohio's 88 counties. Bricker led the state ticket, and won 77 counties. His margin was more than 100,000.

RICHLAND HOPS ON BANDWAGON

Gives Bricker and Taft Edge in Voting, Favors Rest of State G. O. P. Ticket.

Richland county and Mansfield joined the rest of Ohio in Tuesday's election to help sweep into office the entire state Republican ticket.

G. O. P. candidates were given substantial majorities in most cases, although the race between Charles Sawyer, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, and his successful Republican opponent was the closest of the state contests.

The total vote cast was 23,986, slightly under the pre-election estimate of George Balliet, election board chairman, and slightly above The News-Journal estimate, which was based on early returns from 20 precincts in the city.

In the city of Mansfield, the Bricker majority was 210 votes. However, the rural sections of Richland county went more strongly for Bricker, and he left Richland county with a lead of 1,184. The total vote in this contest was 12,585 to 11,401.

Two years ago, Gov. Martin L. Davey defeated Bricker by 2,174 votes in Richland county.

Both Mansfield and Richland county rode the bandwagon of Robert A. Taft, who was elected senator over Robert J. Bulkley, New Deal Democrat.

Taft was the ticket leader among the Republicans in Richland county, with a total of 13,110 votes, while Bulkley had 10,351.

Returns pointed plainly to a preponderance of straight ticket

'Thanks,' Says Bricker To Generous Ohio

COLUMBUS—(AP)—John W. Bricker, Republican governor-elect, expressed appreciation today for the "confidence" shown by the voters as his plurality over Charles Sawyer, his Democratic opponent, soared well past 100,0000.

"I appreciate the fine vote given me and the confidence the people of Ohio have shown," he said.

"It was a hard fought battle and of course I am very glad for the result."

mit counties, where the influential CIO-labor vote was directed against Taft and Bricker.

The victory of Taft and Bricker projected both as prospective material in the hunt for 1940 presidential timber.

Taft said the election showed "beyond any question that the people of Ohio are opposed to arbitrary power, unreasonable regulation of industry and agriculture and wasteful extravagance."

Bricker expressed appreciation for "the confidence the people of Ohio have shown."

"I regret that a majority of the voters of Ohio did not in this instance approve of the principles I represent," Bulkley said, while Sawyer declared:

"We were thoroughly licked.... I think everybody was surprised including the Republicans."

Political observers hailed the results of Tuesday's voting as a triumph for new-born Republican progressivism and a repudiation in this pivotal Buckeye state of New Deal policies.

Both Taft, son of the late president and chief justice, and Bricker, former Ohio attorney general, camaigned against what they termed a New Deal "sending sree." Bulkley second the by Democratic termed a New Deal "spending spree." Bulkley, seconded by Democratic National Committeeman Sawyer, praised the program as one of the necessary New Deal methods of meeting new governmental problems.

Bulkley wired Taft congratulations on his victory early today.

Latest returns gave for:

Ohio governor 8,564 of 8,599 precincts: Sawyer (D) 1,116,723, Bricker (R) 1,230,062.

2 Townships Prefer Wetness, Give Liquor Big Majorities

Two Richland county townships decided that they preferred wetness to dryness in Tuesday's election.

With the question of local option up for the first time yesterday, both Springfield and Cass townships voted to retain liquor on all of the six questions proposed.

The wets carried in Cass township by large majorities and rolled up majorities of nearly two to one in Springfield township.

The unofficial complete vote in Springfield township on the principal question, "Shall the sale of any intoxicating liquor be permitted?" was 481 for, and 241 against. The vote on the same question in Cass township was 289 for, and 201 against.

Other questions balloted on in the two townships were: Shall the sale of wine by the package for consumption off the premises where sold, be permitted; Shall the sale of wine for consumption on and off the premises where sold, be permitted?; Shall the sale of spiritous liquors by the glass be permitted?; Shall state liquor stores for the sale of spiritous liquor by the package, for consumption off the premises where sold be permitted?, and Shall the sale of beer as defined in section 6212-63 of the general code be permitted by holders of "C" or "D" permits?

The two county communities were among 150 in Ohio to vote on the liquor question. Petitions for the local option vote in Springfield township on the sale of beer and liquor were circulated by a committee headed by J. T. Shafer, Park avenue west road.

The movement was organized after a number of residents of the township had complained that celebrants at the taverns at late hours were "a nuisance." Ten petitions were circulated in the township.

Man Tells How He Began Over Again

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Not long ago this column quoted Dr. W. R. Brown, eminent English psychologist, who had some highly interesting things to say about "men of fifty," which he regards as their dangerous age.

Naturally, dozens of people wrote in about the vagaries of the men of 50—their wives, their mothers, their cousins, their aunts. But one man of 50 tells his own life story:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"Your column quotes Dr. Brown, English psychologist, saying that 99 men out of 100 have passed the point where it's possible to start over again. Permit me to disagree. Or, at least, give me the credit of being the hundredth man.

"At 50, I lost my wife, who left me with two children, a daughter of eight and a baby boy of one year. Previous to that, I had been a white-collar man. But I decided on an overall job where I could be my own boss, make more money, give more time to my children.

During all that time I never had any help. I was both father and mother to the children—acted as cook, laundress, nurse, especially nurse when they were ill. More than one night I have sat up watching them with a fever, and went to work next day.

"My daughter is now 22, and has graduated from high school. The boy is 14 and still in school. Both are handsome youngsters, in fine physical condition. Their teeth show that they were properly nourished. Neither of them ever had a tooth extracted. The first came out, the second came in, naturally.

"The real fight that I had was in the terrible depression of '29. That got me down; I've never been quite myself since. Gehenna was a Paradise compared to what I went through, but I stuck it out. And here I am today, perhaps a 'little bedraggled but still in the ring.'

"H. O. W."

Dr. Brown did not, of course, mean that there were no exceptions to the rule. Thousands of men, like my correspondent, are so busy living that they escape the illusions and delusions of the "fatal 50s."

Attention! Ladies, who have written me of their sorrows and amazement in discovering excellent husbands stepping out at 50—have patience and more patience. It's a troublesome period with them, like the teething of their second summer. Wives should accept it for what it is—just a phase.

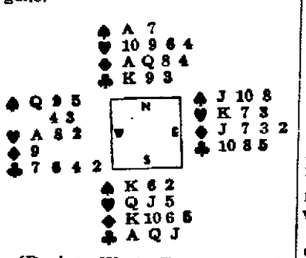
HELP YOUR PARTNER

Protecting your partner's entries, after he has led his suit against no trump, is usually part of your job. When your side is able to take two tricks then in some suit led by declarer, you should try to take the first. This enables you to lead your partner's suit again before his entry is gone.



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

Here West passed as dealer and North bid 1-Diamond. East passed and South called 2-No Trump, which North took to 3-No Trump.

West led the spade 4 against this contract, dummy played the 7 and East the 10, which was allowed to hold the trick. The spade J was returned and won with dummy's A. Declarer counted three diamond tricks, three clubs and two spades, so decided to immediately try to procure the ninth trick in the heart suit. He led the heart 4. East played the 3, South the J and West won with the A. With no other entry for his spades, there seemed no point to West in setting them up, so he switched to a club. South won and led another heart to East's K. That was the last trick for East-West.

East should have played his heart K when the 4 was led from dummy. The K offered the only hope of defeating the contract. South obviously needed one heart trick and East should have protected West's A until the spades were cleared.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, November 10.

EXCELLENT opportunities for growth, expansion and attained objectives are shown in this day's astral operations. It is a time for forging ahead for high goals, with every promise of the substantial co-operation of big business and powerful friends. Possibly there will be an undercurrent of politics, diplomacy or other secret alliances. Change may be necessary, with gain being realized from speculation or chance, as well as from very shrewd or crafty manipulation of peculiar situations.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which opportunity comes to the fulfillment of the heart's desire, and in a most constructive and lucrative way. Large interests are at stake, and a fling at speculation, chance, gambles or "hunches" may be factors in reaching desired goals. Influential friends may assist generously, but alertness, strategem, diplomacy and subtlety have a contributory effect. Minor changes may be needed. Be careful with writings and documents.

A child born on this day may be efficient, shrewd and have strong executive and organizing ability, winning popularity with its fellows in both high and low places. Its progressive spirit and prestige may place it in a responsible position in life.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "vamping Hera" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"No, she did not give her name," I said, and I was sure I did not imagine the relief in my husband's manner.

"Not that it matters," he said with an indifference that was a bit clumsy, "and, if I'm going to find out what in Tophet is the matter at the magazine, I'd better be getting along. My appointment is probably cancelled by this time, anyway. Hawkins won't wait indefinitely for me."

I wanted to cry out at him and tell him he need not toss me the patently false excuse of a masculine colleague waiting lunch for him, that I was quite sure his "appointment" was only a fiction in order to leave him free to obey just such an insolent summons as I had relayed to him. But with a mighty effort I controlled the impulse and was glad an instant later that I had not indulged my temper.

For Dicky who had started for the door as he finished his sentence, suddenly whirled, came back to me and caught me tempestuously into his arms.

"You bulliest of all scouts," he said huskily. "You're being a brick about this, and sometime, please God. I'm going to make it up to you. Just trust me a little longer, sweetheart, and I'll be able to explain everything to you, if I'm alive to do any explaining."

Madge Objects.

He gave a little laugh at the last words, and I knew he meant me to take them facetiously. But they slithered down my spine as if they were pellets of ice. With the memory of that sinister colloquy between the woman of the telephone and her gangster comrade still sounding hauntingly in my ears, they were almost like a prophecy of doom for Dicky.

"Don't say things like that!" I said, unable to choke back the protest. "And you don't need to explain to me ever."

"My own sweetheart!" he said huskily. "But you're going to have the explanation, and soon. Goodbye. I'll be 'phoning you."

He kissed me lingeringly, in spite of the haste he had professed, and then hurried out by a door that led from my bedroom into our little private entrance hall, avoiding the living room by the ruse.

Plans All Made.

It was several minutes after I heard the elevator descend with him before I gathered myself together and summoned sufficient courage to put thoughts of Dicky's possible danger to one side, and devote myself to the more imminent, if immeasurably less important, question of what was to be done with Mary's brothers during the time which should elapse before their train departure for the farm.

But when I came back into the living room, I found that they had not waited for my counsel—something for which I was glad, for my brain felt empty of suggestions—but had decided unanimously to attende the latest movie hit, one which was heralded as the best laugh-provoker of the season.

"This is what we want to do, Auntie Madge, if you don't mind," Mary said as I came into the room. "We want to go right away to the theater. It's continuous, so we can get in any time, and by doing that we'll have time for something scrumptious to eat at a darling restaurant I know near the Penn station. Then the boys won't have to hurry; they can almost fall into the train when we get through eating. It's too soon after breakfast for luncheon now—that's why I'm proposing to go early to the show. How does the program strike you, Auntie Madge? Of course, you're going with us."

Little Things Enhance

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

IT'S THE little things that make a meal one to be remembered, just as in the scheme sartorial, the right accessories make of a simple frock an exquisite costume. This is true not only of the home-cooked meal but of meals served in restaurants and tea rooms.

Fresh, fragrant cinnamon rolls are just such an extra. Making these sweet, spicy rolls is quick and easy. For those who like to get things over in one operation, quick rolls are the thing. A slightly-sweetened dough, similar to that used for scones, makes especially good rolls. A sweet yeast dough makes the kind of foundation that most people associate with "old fashined" cinnamon rolls

Shaping Method Same.

Whether quick dough or yeast dough is used as the foundation, the method of shaping the rolls is the same for both. The prepared dough is rolled out into a rectangular sheet, about one-quarter inch thick and twice as long as wide. Then the sheet of dough is brushed over lightly with melted butter, with a bit of egg or just with plain milk. Over this is sprinkled the cinnamon and sugar mixture in the proportion of a teaspoon of cinnamon to one cup of sugar.

Raisins may be spread over the sugar mixture or they may be kneaded into the dough before it is rolled out. The sheet of dough is rolled up, jelly-roll fashion, and the edges are pinched firmly together. Then the long roll is cut into slices three-quarters of an inch thick.

Each slice is put cut side down into a greased pan. If crusty rolls are preferred, the slices are put into muffin pans or far apart on a baking sheet. If soft rolls are preferred, the slices are placed side by side in a cake pan. That last good sugary touch is added when the rolls are ready for the oven. They are brushed wth milk, or with milk and egg, and some of the sugar and cinnamon mixture is sprinkled over the top.

Pet Recipe.

And here's our pet recipe for quick cinnamon rolls. It calls for two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, four tablespoons shortening, two eggs and one-half cup milk. Sift together flour, baking powder and sugar. Cut in the shortening. Beat one whole egg and one egg white, reserving the yolks for the tops. Add milk to beaten eggs and add all to dry ingredients. Stir only enough to make dough hold together. Turn out on a lightly-floured board and knead for half a minute. Shape into rolls. Brush tops with egg yolk and milk and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes.

HEADache? NERVESTense?

● When your head aches, when your nerves feel as if about to snap, use Capudine. It not only relieves pain gently and quickly, but soothes tense nerves. Capudine's quick action is due to its being liquid—its ingredients are already dissolved, all ready to work.

CAPUDINE

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Take Care Of Teeth Daily

By MME. QUI VIVE

Dental science has made long strides in the last 20 years, yet members of the profession acknowledge that the cause of tooth decay is more or less of a mystery. Some primitive people have sound teeth, others haven't. So the diet of civilized humans cannot be entirely at fault. It has been pretty well determined, however, that an excess of starches and sweets will have a damaging effect upon our white pearls, as starches acted upon by bacteria that is ever present in the mouth produce an acid that eats into the enamel and destroys it.

By brushing the teeth after each meal these destructive agents are retarded in their work, if not checked completely. The brushing must be thorough to be effective. The bristles must sweep away from the gums with a rolling motion that scours the sides of the teeth. The under portions of the teeth that come in contact with food must be swept clean. Needless to say the inner parts need grooming as well.

The gums can be massaged with the fingers or with the brush if the bristles are not to harsh. Pale gums show sluggish circulation, are anything but attractive. When treating teeth or gums only a small portion should be gone over at a time. But thoroughly.

Be particular about the dentifrice you use. Those containing coarse, gritty ingredients will imperil the health and vitality of the enamel. If it is necessary to use dental floss to remove foreign particles, see that you don't saw into the flesh. Toothpicks are a menace, should never be used. An open wound invites infection, and when you're facing that condition you have a real problem. Make a quick get-away to your dentist. Don't try home remedies.

The twice yearly visit to the dentist is a pain-and-money saver. A small cavity is filled without discomfort to the patient, doesn't make a big gouge into the pocketbook as does the cavity that requires an inlay.

Have several toothbrushes, so one is always dry. Wash it with cold water, as warm water softens the bristles. When the bristles weaken the brush is useless.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

A VERY important lady came into our store today absolutely unheralded. I happened to see her just as I was leaving the store to go over to one of our manufacturers. She didn't come in a car or anything like that. She just strolled along, looking at the windows, and turned in the door.

I dashed into the downstairs office and called Madame. Luckily, she just happened to be in her office and came down in her private elevator. She asked me to stick around and I was glad she did. For this great leady proved to be just as sweet and human as we have heard she was.

She told us that she doesn't unually patronize the specialty shops, preferring to shop at certain stores where she has dealt for many years, but that her daughter had written her to come and see us.

Stayed For Show.

Madame asked her if she would like to see a little fashion show of our newest things, and she was pleased to stay and see what we had. She liked two of the models so much that she ordered them to be copied for her. Then she bought two hats and ordered three lovely jackets to be sent to her daughter. It was a very pleasant occasion and pleased us all.

Then she went into our oddment corner and into our accessories shop and selected several items, all of which, she said, were for holiday gifts. I wish all our customers were so thoughtful and did their shopping so early. She is a wise woman, for she gets nice merchandise and is able to make her selections in comfort.

I made up my mind that I'm going to do my shopping early, too. So while I am on the plane soaring to Bermuda, I'm going to make out my list. I certainly ought to be able to concentrate up there with nothing but water to look at when I get tired of staring at the clouds. I'll keep my list as a souvenir of my trip.

Leisure becomes more enticing all the time as negligees and hostess gowns grown in beauty and comfort. Here is a delightful design, a hostess gown fashioned of cerise rough crepe with bands of royal blue velvet. The velvet comes from the shoulders and neck, and twists around the back, tying in front again with long ends. The skirt is gathered onto the waist in back, falling in soft folds.

Cerise crepe hostess gown.

My Neighbor Says:

If you want to drain your fish pond, be sure that it is thoroughly drained and then cover the lilies and other plants which are planted in the bottom. Or if you have your plants set in tubs, simply move the tubs into a shallow trench and cover them with earth or litter, or you can move them into the cellar. But it wants to be a cool place, about 40 to 60 degrees, and it's best to cover the boxes with burlap and keep them moist all winter.

SURVEY PRESENTED AT A. A. U. W. MEET

Mansfield Art Discussed by Group of Members Tuesday Evening at Dinner Session at Women's Club.

THE Art Survey of Mansfield was presented last night before 75 members of the American Association of University Women when they met at the Women's Club for a dinner meeting and program. Routine business was discussed and Miss Ruth Zelenka and Mrs. Gordon Colby gave reports.

Wanda and Norma Hess were presented by Mrs. E. D. Gibson, music chairman. The study groups were presented by Mrs. Merritt Giles and representatives of each group spoke.

Miss Florence Robinson introduced the survey, and spoke briefly on the community as a whole and what it is doing to promote art, she followed with a historical background of the city. Miss Beatrice McLees told of the city's location, and stated that it was built like ancient Jerusalem.

Mrs. H. P. Huston then gave a statistical report on institutions and the spirit of Mansfield during which she told that the Masonic lodge was the oldest in point of organization, and that the social spirit was the greatest moving force of the city.

The present status of art was considered by Miss Edith Beck who told her audience that Mansfielders are not art conscious, and that the greatest percentage of art comes through the schools.

Miss Wilma Snider told of the seven arts, speaking on authors, music, the little theater and dancing. The program was concluded by Miss Robinson who spoke of painting. The survey was made by this group of speakers assisted by Miss Ruth Dunham and Miss Pearl Danback.

The next meeting will be a dinner at the First Congregational church Dec. 13 at which time the drama group will present a program assisted by Mrs. Gibson who will be in charge of the music.

Members of this group will participate in the ceremony which will be followed by a banquet. Miss Isabel Gerstmeyer is in charge of banquet reservations and transportation for the affair which will be held Nov. 13.

Officers of the organization were installed last night, and Mrs. J. E. Massa was named chairman in charge of the Nov. 22 social hour. Plans were also made for a Christmas exchange following the Dec. 13 meeting.

ROUTINE SESSION.

A routine business meeting of the Chi Sigma sorority was held last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Miss Florence Nail presided. The next meeting will be a social Nov. 15 at the hotel. Hostesses are the Misses Dorothy Crawford, Mary Lou Hout, Betty Hammel, and Mrs. Clifford Heaton, Mrs. E. J. Houston and Mrs. Arthur Knight.

TO SHINE GLASS

This is a time of year when one wants to be particularly sure that windows and mirror glass are clean and shining. A simple way to achieve this is to rub the glass with a clean piece of cheese cloth dipped in glycerine and then polish well with a second cloth. The slight film of glycerine that remains on the glass prevents cooking steam and damp weather moisture from forming.

ELASTIC MATERIAL

That bugaboo of upholstered furniture, the recalcitrant spring that thrusts itself up in unexpected spots, has been put to rout finally and for all time in the new furniture being introduced by leading manufacturers this fall. The furniture is upholstered with insulated hair, which has been given a lasting resiliency and strength with a coating of liquid rubber, according to the designers. The material eliminates that "squashed-in" look which so frequently spoils the appearance of divans and upholstered chairs after a few months of use

Cocktail Frock

From Paris comes a black crepe cocktail-dinner dress with a deep-backed, short-sleeved yoke and a wide hem flounce of black lace. Germaine Lecomte designed it.

HIGH-STYLE KITCHEN

In planning the modern home the kitchen comes in for just as much if not more attention than the living room and the modern kitchen is glorified from ceiling to floor. A model kitchen recently placed upon exhibition in New York has walls of vitrolite, a new type of glass which has somewhat the appearance of colored marble and can be kept spotless and shining merely by wiping off with a wet cloth. A useful and thoroughly practical gadget in this kitchen is a glass pastry board which was built into the work table adjacent to the sink.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE Bad Breath

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing cannot get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities. Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

Man Tells How He Began Over Again

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Not long ago this column quoted Dr. W. R. Brown, eminent English psychologist, who had some highly interesting things to say about "men of fifty," which he regards as their dangerous age.

Naturally, dozens of people wrote in about the vagaries of the men of 50—their wives, their mothers, their cousins, their aunts. But one man of 50 tells his own life story:

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"Your column quotes Dr. Brown, English psychologist, saying that 99 men out of 100 have passed the point where it's possible to start over again. Permit me to disagree. Or, at least, give me the credit of being the hundredth man.

"At 50, I lost my wife, who left me with two children, a daughter of eight and a baby boy of one year. Previous to that, I had been a white-collar man. But I decided on an overall job where I could be my own boss, make more money, give more time to my children.

During all that time I never had any help. I was both father and mother to the children—acted as cook, laundress, nurse, especially nurse when they were ill. More than one night I have sat up watching them with a fever, and went to work next day.

"My daughter is now 22, and has graduated from high school. The boy is 14 and still in school. Both are handsome youngsters, in fine physical condition. Their teeth show that they were properly nourished. Neither of them ever had a tooth extracted. The first came out, the second came in, naturally.

"The real fight that I had was in the terrible depression of '29. That got me down; I've never been quite myself since. Gehenna was a Paradise compared to what I went through, but I stuck it out. And here I am today, perhaps a little bedraggled but still in the ring.'

"H. O. W."

Dr. Brown did not, of course, mean that there were no exceptions to the rule. Thousands of men, like my correspondent, are so busy living that they escape the illusions and delusions of the "fatal 50s."

Attention! Ladies, who have written me of their sorrows and amazement in discovering excellent husbands stepping out at 50—have patience and more patience. It's a troublesome period with them, like the teething of their second summer. Wives should accept it for what it is—just a phase.

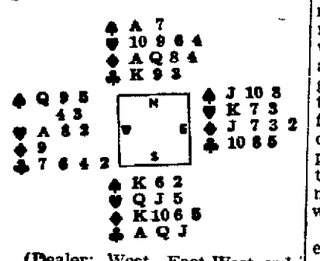
"The Authority on Authorities"

HELP YOUR PARTNER

Protecting your partner's entries, after he has led his suit against no trump, is usually part of your job. When your side is able to take two tricks then in some suit led by declarer, you should try to take the first. This enables you to lead your partner's suit again before his entry is gone.



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

Here West passed as dealer and North bid 1-Diamond. East passed and South called 2-No Trump, which North took to 3-No Trump.

West led the spade 4 against this contract, dummy played the 7 and East the 10, which was allowed to hold the trick. The spade J was returned and won with dummy's A. Declarer counted three diamond tricks, three clubs and two spades, so decided to immediately try to procure the ninth trick in the heart suit. He led the heart 4, East played the 3, South the J and West won with the A. With no other entry for his spades, there seemed no point to West in setting them up, so he switched to a club. South won and led another heart to East's K. That was the last trick for East-West.

East should have played his heart K when the 4 was led from dummy. The K offered the only hope of defeating the contract. South obviously needed one heart trick and East should have protected West's A until the spades were cleared.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, November 10.

EXCELLENT opportunities for growth, expansion and attained objectives are shown in this day's astral operations. It is a time for forging ahead for high goals, with every promise of the substantial co-operation of big business and powerful friends. Possibly there will be an undercurrent of politics, diplomacy or other secret alliances. Change may be necessary, with gain being realized from speculation or chance, as well as from very shrewd or crafty manipulation of peculiar situations.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year in which opportunity comes to the fulfillment of the heart's desire, and in a most constructive and lucrative way. Large interests are at stake, and a fling at speculation, chance, gambles or "hunches" may be factors in reaching desired goals. Influential friends may assist generously, but alertness, strategem, diplomacy and subtlety have a contributory effect. Minor changes may be needed. Be careful with writings and documents.

A child born on this day may be efficient, shrewd and have strong executive and organizing ability, winning popularity with its fellows in both high and low places. Its progressive spirit and prestige may place it in a responsible position in life.

For making colored sugars to decorate cookies add a little fruit coloring to a small amount of sugar sprinkled on a shallow dish. When the sugar and coloring are well blended spread the mixture in a thin layer on the cookie after the cookie is baked. Colors applied before baking are apt to disappear during the cooking process.

Tomorrow's Problem.

How should South play for 6-Spades after the lead of the club K?

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one system has told another how to get "soaring pep" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessen distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"No, she did not give her name," I said, and I was sure I did not imagine the relief in my husband's manner.

"Not that it matters," he said with an indifference that was a bit clumsy, "and, if I'm going to find out what in Tophet is the matter at the magazine, I'd better be getting along. My appointment is probably cancelled by this time, anyway. Hawkins won't wait indefinitely for me."

I wanted to cry out at him and tell him he need not toss me the patently false excuse of a masculine colleague waiting lunch for him, that I was quite sure his "appointment" was only a fiction in order to leave him free to obey just such an insolent summons as I had relayed to him. But with a mighty effort I controlled the impulse and was glad an instant later that I had not indulged my temper.

Little Things Enhance

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

IT'S THE little things that make a meal one to be remembered, just as in the scheme sartorial, the right accessories make of a simple frock an exquisite costume. This is true not only of the home-cooked meal but of meals served in restaurants and tea rooms.

Fresh, fragrant cinnamon rolls are just such an extra. Making these sweet, spicy rolls is quick and easy. For those who like to get things over in one operation, quick rolls are the thing. A slightly-sweetened dough, similar to that used for scones, makes especially good rolls. A sweet yeast dough makes the kind of foundation that most people associate with "old fashined" cinnamon rolls

Shaping Method Same.

Whether quick dough or yeast dough is used as the foundation, the method of shaping the rolls is the same for both. The prepared dough is rolled out into a rectangular sheet, about one-quarter inch thick and twice as long as wide. Then the sheet of dough is brushed over lightly with melted butter, with a bit of egg or just with plain milk. Over this is sprinkled the cinnamon and sugar mixture in the proportion of a teaspoon of cinnamon to one cup of sugar.

Raisins may be spread over the sugar mixture or they may be kneaded into the dough before it is rolled out. The sheet of dough is rolled up, jelly-roll fashion, and the edges are pinched firmly together. Then the long roll is cut into slices three-quarters of an inch thick.

Each slice is put cut side down into a greased pan. If crusty rolls are preferred, the slices are put into muffin pans or far apart on a baking sheet. If soft rolls are preferred, the slices are placed side by side in a cake pan. That last good sugary touch is added when the rolls are ready for the oven. They are brushed wth milk, or with milk and egg, and some of the sugar and cinnamon mixture is sprinkled over the top.

Pet Recipe.

And here's our pet recipe for quick cinnamon rolls. It calls for two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, four tablespoons shortening, two eggs and one-half cup milk. Sift together flour, baking powder and sugar. Cut in the shortening. Beat one whole egg and one egg white, reserving the yolks for the tops. Add milk to beaten eggs and add all to dry ingredients. Stir only enough to make dough hold together. Turn out on a lightly-floured board and knead for half a minute. Shape into rolls. Brush tops with egg yolk and milk and sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 15 to 20 minutes.

Take Care Of Teeth Daily

By MME. QUI VIVE

Dental science has made long strides in the last 20 years, yet members of the profession acknowledge that the cause of tooth decay is more or less of a mystery. Some primitive people have sound teeth, others haven't. So the diet of civilized humans cannot be entirely at fault. It has been pretty well determined, however, that an excess of starches and sweets will have a damaging effect upon our white pearls, as starches acted upon by bacteria that is ever present in the mouth produce an acid that eats into the enamel and destroys it.

By brushing the teeth after each meal these destructive agents are retarded in their work, if not checked completely. The brushing must be thorough to be effective. The bristles must sweep away from the gums with a rolling motion that scours the sides of the teeth. The under portions of the teeth that come in contact with food must be swept clean. Needless to say the inner parts need grooming as well.

The gums can be massaged with the fingers or with the brush if the bristles are not to harsh. Pale gums show sluggish circulation, are anything but attractive. When treating teeth or gums only a small portion should be gone over at a time. But thoroughly.

Be particular about the dentifrice you use. Those containing coarse, gritty ingredients will imperil the health and vitality of the enamel. If it is necessary to use dental floss to remove foreign particles, see that you don't saw into the flesh. Toothpicks are a menace, should never be used. An open wound invites infection, and when you're facing that condition you have a real problem. Make a quick get-away to your dentist. Don't try home remedies.

The twice yearly visit to the dentist is a pain-and-money saver. A small cavity is filled without discomfort to the patient, doesn't make a big gouge into the pocketbook as does the cavity that requires an inlay.

Have several toothbrushes, so one is always dry. Wash it with cold water, as warm water softens the bristles. When the bristles weaken the brush is useless.

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

A VERY important lady came into our store today absolutely unheralded. I happened to see her just as I was leaving the store to go over to one of our manufacturers. She didn't come in a car or anything like that. She just strolled along, looking at the windows, and turned in the door.

I dashed into the downstairs office and called Madame. Luckily, she just happened to be in her office and came down in her private elevator. She asked me to stick around and I was glad she did. For this great leady proved to be just as sweet and human as we have heard she was.

She told us that she doesn't unually patronize the specialty shops, preferring to shop at certain stores where she has dealt for many years, but that her daughter had written her to come and see us.

Stayed For Show.

Madame asked her if she would like to see a little fashion show of our newest things, and she was pleased to stay and see what we had. She liked two of the models so much that she ordered them to be copied for her. Then she bought two hats and ordered three lovely jackets to be sent to her daughter. It was a very pleasant occasion and pleased us all.

Cerise crepe hostess gown.

Then she went into our oddment corner and into our accessories shop and selected several items, all of which, she said, were for holiday gifts. I wish all our customers were so thoughtful and did their shopping so early. She is a wise woman, for she gets nice merchandise and is able to make her selections in comfort.

I made up my mind that I'm going to do my shopping early, too. So while I am on the plane soaring to Bermuda, I'm going to make out my list. I certainly ought to be able to concentrate up there with nothing but water to look at when I get tired of staring at the clouds. I'll keep my list as a souvenir of my trip.

Leisure becomes more enticing all the time as negligees and hostess gowns grown in beauty and ecmfort. Here is a delightful design, a hostess gown fashioned of cerise rough crepe with bands of royal blue velvet. The velvet comes from the shoulders and neck, and twists around the back, tying in front again with long ends. The skirt is gathered onto the waist in back, falling in soft folds.

My Neighbor Says:

If you want to drain your fish pond, be sure that it is thoroughly drained and then cover the lilies and other plants which are planted in the bottom. Or if you have your plants set in tubs, simply move the tubs into a shallow trench and cover them with earth or litter, or you can move them into the cellar. But it wants to be a cool place, about 40 to 60 degrees, and it's best to cover the boxes with burlap and keep them moist all winter.

No Tears Shed By Toledoans

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

TODAY'S post-election headaches are just a slight thump in the skull compared to the pain that will ring through a certain group of coaches' carniums late Friday and Saturday. . . . What a swell lineup of games the fans in this neck of the state will be offered this week-end. The grid devotees can go to Bellville Friday afternoon for that big Madison tussle, then over to Galion for the nocturnal affair which pits the Orangemen against Shelby and then go along with the Tygers to Canton Saturday. . . . Art Hilborn's All-Stars rolled a 3158 total instead of 3148 over in Sandusky Sunday. An error of 10 pins was discovered in Sonny Meder's last game. Incidentally, the same team shot a 3178 total on the same pair of alleys last season.

Cecil Travis

The Montgomery Ward company's Blahnik was offered a job to play with the Green Bay Packers after concluding his football career some years ago at Michigan. . . . Toledo baseball fans are not shedding any tears over the loss of Fred Haney, who takes over the hopeless Browns next year. They had him on the pan last year. . . . Bowl games Jan. 1 will include the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Cotton Bowl in Dallas, Sun Bowl in El Paso, Orange Bowl in Miami, Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and Poi Bowl in Honolulu, and now New York is planning an East Bowl. . . .

Tony Lonero, Ashland college mentor, who has been having a lot of trouble because of a small squad, advocates a breakdown of the Ohio conference with weaker teams playing together and using freshmen. . . . Van Wert coached by Chuck Campbell, former Denison star, boasts the only uncrossed goal line among Ohio high school teams. . . . A coming announcement will say that Cevil Travis has been traded by the Senators to Detroit. The Detroiters to figure in the deal are unidentified. . . . No wonder the Indians are trying to buy Buck Newsom. He beat the Tribe five out of six times last season. . . . Arkansas lost to Baylor, Texas Aggies and Rice all in the last 60 seconds this year. . . . Biggie Goldberg's injury is said to be more serious than Pittsburgh is admitting.

Fenn, Hollingsworth Pace Tire Bowlers

Main Office No. 1 Star Rolls Games of 245, 214 and 203 for 662 to Lead Scoring at Meder Alleys.

MANSFIELD Tire & Rubber company bowlers held a scoring picnic on the Meder Recreation alleys last night, with Bill Fenn setting the pace with a snappy 662.

Bowling with Main Office No. 1, Fenn blasted out scores of 245, 214 and 203 to reach the high figures.

Bob Hollingsworth of the Foremen was little less brilliant with a fancy 648, which he counted from games of 200, 233 and 215. Hollingsworth, incidentally, led his team to the high three-game total of 2641.

Opening up with a 244, Jess Willard of the Mill Room finished with a 206 and 182 for a 632. E. Wolfe of the Tire Room came through with a 614. Bill Donnellan of the Maintenance club shot an even 600, with a 234 last game.

Taking two games from the Factory Office, the Air Bag No. 2 retained first place. Curing No. 1 won three tilts from Maintenance to take undisputed possession of second place.

Bucks to Try Aerial Game

Work on Passes for Game With Illinois Saturday.

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Coach Francis Schmidt indicated today the Ohio State football eleven will resort to a heavy aerial bombardment against Illinois next Saturday in a desperate bid for a share of Big Ten honors.

The Bucks who attempted only 14 forward passes in their losing performance against Purdue last week have been engaged in heavy aerial drills in practice sessions this week.

The quarterbacking corps consisting of Jim Sexton, Mike Kabealo, Bill Bullock and John Simione tossed passes to all areas of the practice gridiron Tuesday afternoon.

After a creditable passing record in earlier games, the Ohio State passing attack bogged badly against the Boilermakers and Schmidt hopes to revive it to supplement the high speed running attack which has been developed around Jim Strausbaugh, Jim Langhurst, Don Scott and Forrest Fordham.

The injury problem continued to handicap the Buck forces. Joe Aleskus, rangy reserve tackle, worked out in the varsity left tackle post of Alex Schoenbaum, Huntington, W. Va., veteran, who remains on the sidelines with injuries. Pete Gales, letterman guard, also failed to return to active work because of bruises received in the Purdue game.

The end personnel was bolstered, however, by return of Keith Bliss, regular in the earlier games. He has been suffering from sinus infection and probably will not be at full physical strength by Saturday.

High School Coaches Prepare Ball Clubs for Bad Weather

Mixture of Rain and Snow Handicaps Mentors As They Prepare for Important Games.

A MIXTURE of snow and rain hampered coaches as they continued preparations for difficult football assignments this week-end.

While they hoped for a continuance of the perfect football weather which has prevailed throughout the season, high school mentors feared for the worst this week.

Changes in the tactics of many of the teams were expected to be made this week in anticipation of wet fields.

Get Ready for Bulldogs.

Coach Russ Murphy was concerned over weather conditions for practice sessions for Saturday's invasion of Canton McKinley but refused to comment on what kind of a field he desired for the game.

If a wet field will slow down McKinley offensive to any extent, Murphy, naturally, will hope for a little pre-game rain. But a wet gridiron will also handicap Mansfield. Much of the Tygers' offensive strength lies in the fleet feet of a couple of backs, which would also be slowed up considerable by bad footing.

Over at Madison, Coach Al Fendrick also had little time to think about weather conditions as he concentrated all of his attention on trickery to beat Bellville.

Expressing a hope for good weather, Fendrick stressed passing in workouts this week. He also announced that he was cooking up a new offensive formation to throw against the unbeaten Blue Jays, not to mention a new defense. The entire club is in perfect condition, he revealed.

Coach Royd Hodge hoped for good weather Friday as his Blue Jays will be outweighed by Madison. His squad is also in fairly good condition for the encounter.

Work Overtime.

Over at Shelby and Galion, gridsters are working overtime this week as they prepare for their Galion meeting Friday night in which the N. C. O. title will be determined. Crestline also worked hard for Friday afternoon's tilt with Tiffin Calvert that will decide the Little Big Four crown.

Hard work was also stressed in the other neighborhood grid camps for this week's battles which will end the season for many clubs.

Wolverines Head Toward Most Important Game On Abbreviated Big Ten Schedule Saturday.

By EARL HILLIGAN

CHICAGO—(AP)—Michigan's football fortunes once again are rocketing toward the heights—power by remarkable team spirit, ball carrying backs with whirlwind speed and blockers who like to "knock 'em into the nickel seats."

In 1933 Michigan won its last Big Ten football title. In the following four seasons the Wolverines won only five conference tilts while losing 17. H. O. (Fritz) Crisler came from Princeton to take up where Harry Kipke left off, and there was a general feeling that Fritz would require at least two years to get anywhere with the reconstruction of the Wolverine game.

Can Share Title.

Yet this week finds Michigan heading toward the most important game of the abbreviated Big Ten schedule—its game with Northwestern. Victory over Northwestern would make Michigan a strong favorite for at least a slice of the Big Ten title, and victory for the Wolverines over Ohio State a week from Saturday might find them sole holders of the crown.

The Wolverines have lost only to Minnesota this season—and that defeat came on a 7-6 margin after Michigan had outplayed the Gophers. Michigan State, Chicago, Yale, Illinois and Pennsylvania have fallen before the Crisler aggregation.

Michigan has tremendous speed, and probably will have it for some seasons to come. Tom Harmon, Paul Kromer and Norm Purucker, most publicized of the backs, are better than "10 second men"—and Kromer and Harmon have two more seasons to play.

Add this speed to the blocking ability of Harmon, Forest Evashevski and Ed Phillips and the answer is a "mow 'em down" rushing attack which has supplanted the old "punt, pass and prayer" system.

Crisler, a business like worker, has fired his players with amazing spirit. His men work for him as hard in practice as in a game. And there's a new feeling not only on the campus but around the town of Ann Arbor, which is really "hepped up" over Michigan's gridiron chances for the first time in years.

There isn't much doubt Harmon's quite a boy. Bob Zuppke, in his 26th season at Illinois, says he's the best back he's seen this season.

The Wolverines almost lost the services of Fred Janke, their captain and tackle, as they perfected their defense against Northwestern plays yesterday. Janke injured his ankle, but Trainer Roberts said he did not believe it was serious enough to keep him out of Saturday's game.

Uses Sophomores.

At Northwestern, Coach Lynn Waldorf inserted three sophomores into the backfield in an effort to speed up the Wildcat offense and said two of them might start against Michigan.

Quarterback Jimmy Sexton and End Stu Whitehead led a snappy passing display at Ohio State. At Illinois, the Buckeyes' foe of the week, Coach Bob Zuppke continued to juggle his lineup. He returned Veterans Ken Zimmerman and Bob Castelo to end, Clif Peterson and Bo Burris to halfback and sent Willard Cramer to right tackle.

LUTHERANS DO BETTER THAN COACH EXPECTED

COLUMBUS—(INS)—More than pleased with results to date, Coach Bill Bernlohr sent his Capital university squad through an intensive workout today in anticipation of the meeting with Otterbein this week. At the beginning of the season, Bernlohr said he would be content with a .500 percentage standing. The Capital eleven has won five, lost one and tied one.

Boast Powerless Football Attack

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—(AP)—A low-geared, no-scoring football machine from St. John's college, boasting one of the most powerless attacks in years, put forth its bid for fame today as 1938's premier goal line protector. They have challenged the pigskin world to produce another team with their unparalleled record of protecting opponents' goal lines.

The St. John's dream team—Coach Valentine (Dutch) Lentz says he dreams things about it nearly every night—has done some greatless things since the season opened, but it reached new heights of inoffensiveness against Randolph-Macon college Saturday.

The Johnnies lost 45 to 0 to protect their season record of not making a point—but that was small fry stuff. They didn't register a single first down, either.

Coals, Cheered By First Win, Book Lorain

Engage Collegians on Home Field Sunday.

Encouraged by their first victory of the season over the Columbus Avondale Theaters, the Kallmerten and Baer Coals today started preparations for another difficult assignment.

The Coals, who have lost six straight games prior to Sunday's victory, will meet the highly-touted Lorain Collegians at League park Sunday afternoon.

While Sunday's victory is expected to have a favorable effect on Coach Gip Miller's men, the K-B's face anything but an easy task against the Lorain eleven.

Although defeated, the Collegians marked the heretofore unmarred record of the Minerva Merchants last Sunday by scoring a safety. The score was 13 to 2.

The only other defeat on the Lorain team's record is an 18 to 6 setback administered by the South Akron Awnings, probably the strongest semi-pro club in the state.

Coach Miller said today that all of the Coalmen came out of the game last Sunday in good shape except Rabbit Siler, who suffered a hand injury.

SCOTS TO CLAIM TIE IF THEY BEAT PRINCES

WOOSTER — (INS) — Realizing that a victory would give as good a claim to the Ohio conference title as any put forth by John Carroll, Wooster's Scots went at today's preparations for Heidelberg in earnest. On the basis of past performances, the Scots were heavy favorites to down the student princes.

Reserve, Carroll Battle for State Title Saturday

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's college gridders offer their last full program of the 1938 campaign this week-end, with practically everything riding on the result of three of the 19 contests scheduled Saturday afternoon. Here are the top-notch affairs:

Western Reserve-John Carroll at Cleveland: the state championship hinges on this one. Reserve going into it with seven straight wins, and Carroll with six victories and a tie.

Wooster-Heidelberg at Wooster. The Scots of Wooster, with four wins and two ties, can clinch the Ohio conference crown by winning. The Scots are just a notch behind John Carroll, which has completed its league chores with four wins and one tie.

Ohio University-Dayton at Dayton: The Bobcats from Athens, victors over Illinois and loser only to Western Reserve, can clinch a share of the Buckeye conference laureis here.

After this week's contests ahe completed, only 17 remain on the season's slate, 10 on Nov. 19, five Thanksgiving day, and two on Dec. 3.

Ohio State, with an outside chance in the wide open Big Ten title scrap, goes to Illinois this week-end.

In addition to the Wooster-Heidelberg fray, seven other events between Ohio conference clubs are booked. They are: Wittenberg at Kenyon, Baldwin-Wallace at Kent State, Mount Union at Ohio Northern, Findlay at Ashland, Muskingum at Marietta, Otterbein at Capital, and Oberlin at Denison.

Ohio Northern's Polar Bears, season-long leaders of the Ohio loop, crashed out of the top spot Saturday as Muskingum came through with a 7-6 decision, while Wittenberg wrecked Denison 1937 state champ, 13 to 0, in the day's two big upsets.

Marshall, which dropped its last three after winning four in a row, meets Cincinnati at the Queen City Saturday in a non-league contest. Other non-conference frays are: Miami at Case, Centre at Ohio Wesleyan, Toledo at Akron, Bowling Green at Hiram, Bluffton at Assumption, Clarion at Youngstown, and Transylvania at Rio Grande.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ELECTIONS IN OTHER STATES

Bulletins From Throughout Nation Show Trends From Yesterday's Elections.

NEWARK, N. J. — (AP) — W. Warren Barbour, Republican, held an almost insurmountable lead for United States senator today when rural New Jersey counties overcame a near-record Democratic majority in Hudson county for his opponent, William H. J. Ely. The vote in 3,264 districts of 3,578 gave Barbour 716,335 and Ely 688,063.

HARTFORD, Conn. — (AP) — Democratic Gov. Wilbur L. Cross, seeking a fourth term, conceded today the election of his Republican opponent, Raymond E. Baldwin by a plurality of approximately 3,000 votes.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. — (AP) — Republicans, blasting at New Deal policies, apparently won a sweeping victory in South Dakota's balloting yesterday, electing two United States senators, two congressmen, and the governor and threatening to make a clean sweep of the state ticket.

Gladys Pyle, who led the other Republican candidates, ran up a majority of nearly 19,000 in winning the fight for the short term seat in the United States senate. Miss Pyle, former South Dakota secretary of state, thus became the first woman elected to the senate on the Republican ticket. She will serve about 30 days.

STILL UNDECIDED

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.— (INS) — Indiana's neck-and-neck race for United States senator continued undecided this morning after 1,920 of the state's 3,728 precincts had reported.

Raymond E. Willis, Angola publisher and G. O. P. nominee for senator, cut the early lead of Senator Frederick Van Nuys, Dem., as more returns from the rural regions arrived.

The count at the 1,920-precinct mark was Van Nuys, 387,478, Willis, 382,122. Republicans apparently had raised their strength in congress from one to five seats. There are 12 Indiana congressmen.

BARKLEY WINS, 8 KILLED

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(INS)—Alben W. Barkley, the U. S. senate majority leader, appeared assured today of re-election by a comfortable margin following a bloody election day in which eight persons were slain and two others seriously wounded.

Senator Barkley was well out in front of his Republican opponent, John P. Haswell, in returns that were still incomplete. The vote in 2,253 out of 4,324 precincts gave the senate leader 173,260 votes to Haswell's 98,390.

In the bloodiest day of election violence in five years, four persons were killed in Harlan county, two in Owsley county and one each in Bell and Todd counties.

WINS IN HAWAII

HONOLULU—(UP)—Sam King, Republican delegate to congress from the Hawaiian islands, apparently was re-elected today over Democrat David Trask, a territorial senator. The majority of territorial offices were won by Republicans.

Hunters killed more than 1,000,000 game birds and animals during Florida's 90-day, 1936-37 hunting season.

'HAM AND EGGS' SCRAMBLED NOW

$30 Thursday Advocate Wins California Senate Race But Plan Loses.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Sheridan Downey, an advocate of California's famous $30 every Thursday "ham-and-eggs" pension plan, today was the choice of the golden state's electorate for the United State's senate.

A fellow Democrat, State Senator Culbert Olson, who has sidestepped the pension scheme, was elected governor. The Democrats will move into the governor's mansion in Sacramento for the first time in 44 years

Downey bagged his Republican rival, Philip Bancroft, a walnut grower, by a convincing margin and will replace another Democrat, William G. McAdoo, who was defeated in the primary.

Olson administered a sound defeat to the Republican incumbent governor, Frank F. Merriam.

The "ham-and-eggs" plan, providing $30 a week in state scrip for persons over 50 years of age, was buried by the voters, in a strange situation that saw the voters approve Downey but denounce the pension, which was espoused by the new senator.

REPUBLICANS IN OHIO ELECT 14 CONGRESSMEN

Ten New Dealers Displaced by G. O. P. Landslide; Now Situation's Reversed.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Republican ballot bombshell in Tuesday's election shattered Ohio's New Deal congressional delegation.

Republicans, who have held only two of Ohio's 24 positions in the national house of representatives for the last two years, won at least 14 seats.

At least ten incumbent congressmen, all ardent New Dealers except Rep. Arthur P. Lamneck of Columbus, were defeated.

Lamneck has been a caustic critic of the New Deal, but John M. Vorys of Columbus, Ohio's first aeronautics examiner, edged him out in a close race.

State-wide balloting on two representative-at-large positions followed the decisive Republican trend, George H. Bender and L. L. Marshall, both of Cleveland, winning by comfortable margins.

Three in Doubt.

Three of the 22 district contests still were in doubt as ballot counting neared an end today. They were the sixth, 15th and 18th districts.

Besides Lamneck, the defeated congressmen included: John McSweeney, representative-at-large Joseph A. Dixon, Herbert S. Bigelow, Byron B. Harlan, Frank C. Kniffin, Arthur W. Aleshire, Brooks Fletcher, William R. Thom and Anthony A. Fleger.

Four other avowed New Dealers —none incumbents—who lost out were: Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, candidate for one of the at-large positions, William B. Swonger of Sidney, Mrs. Elsie Rowe Stanton of Wellston and William L. Fiesinger of Sandusky. Young and Fiesinger formerly served in congress.

Both Bender and Marshall were making their third bids for congress. Results from 6,967 of the state's 8,599 precincts gave Bender 917,026, Marshall 860,628, McSweeney 826,821, and Young 782,554.

OCTOBER COURT RECEIPTS DROP

Collections $200 Under Previous Month, Report Shows.

Municipal court receipts totaling $1,044.13 for October fell nearly $200 below the revenues collected for September and were $800 under the same period last year, the monthly report of collections prepared by Miss Isabel Gerstmeyer, deputy clerk, showed today.

Most of the reduction was attributed to the decreased revenues in the criminal branch in which the traffic forfeitures (parking tickets collected by the police department) dropped to $55, or $141 below the September collection of $191.

From the total receipts, the city's general fund will receive $917, while $127 will be distributed to the state, county and law library

"My thanks go to those who have in this campaign supported me and the principles I represent. I regret that a majority of the voters of Ohio did not in this instance approve of these principles, but we are all accustomed to political overturns."

PRINCE KILLED

Shot by Woman, Says Dispatch From Rome to London.

LONDON —(INS)— Prince Luigi Alberico Trivulzio, whose wife is lady in waiting to the queen of Italy, was shot and killed, allegedly by a 40-year-old woman, according to a Reuters report from Rome today.

The woman was said to have fired five revolver shots at the Italian prince after a brief argument. She was arrested.

THEATERS

THIS AND THAT: There will be no prettying up of Douglas Corrigan for his acting role in "The Flying Irishman," not even to straighten his teeth. . . . Tyrone Power, who is portraying Jesse James, notorious American bad man, is gun shy, and scenes have to be taken over when he flinches at the sound of his own guns. . . . Richard Dix is the newest of Hollywood's country gentlemen. He's purchased a ranch out beyond the film estates, largely for his twins. . . . Walter Wanger's studio is making "Stagecoach," which will deal with the stagecoach days in Arizona. . . .

"Listen Darling."

Katharine Brush's story of adolescent youth provides a rollicking comedy for Freddie Bartholomew and Judy Garland in "Listen Darling," which is booked for the Ohio Thursday and the last of the week. Mary Astor will be seen as the young mother, whose love affair with Walter Pidgeon is managed by the two children. Scotty Beckett throws monkey wrenches into the machinery of love, and Miss Garland sings three songs.

Penner In Football.

Joe Penner as a football shark is something else again and his play is so complicated that he doesn't even understand it himself in "Mr. Doodle Kicks Off." But he takes his team to a smashing victory when someone plays "Pop, Goes the Weasel" at the right time. June Travis is an incentive to Joe to improve his game, and Billy Gilbert is a low-comedy professor. The picture is at the Madison.

Campus Cut-Ups.

More campus cut-ups and more haywire football is found in "Life Begins at College," which the Park presents Thursday and the remainder of the week. The film moves onto the screen just as another Ritz Brothers comedy moves off. In the one opening tomorrow Nat Pendleton is a rich Indian who comes to college and the Ritz Brothers endeavor to manage his affairs. Joan Davis, Tony Martin and Gloria Stuart are in the cast. "Sky Devils," a re-issue, is the second feature.

Four Song Hits.

Four popular songs made their debut in "Dr. Rhythm," which the Ritz is showing, with Bing Crosby introducing each of them. They are "On the Sentimental Side," "My Heart Is Taking Lessons," "This Is My Night to Dream" and the title song. Mary Carlisle and Beatrice Lillie give romance and comedy to the film. Gail Patrick and Warren William are in "Wives Under Suspicion."

New Series Popular.

The series of the Gambini family promises to be one of the popular hits among the picture series, for what it lacks in names it makes up for in good direction and human interest. Henry Armetto, the little Italian character actor, is a decided asset as Papa Gambini. "Road Demon," at the Majestic is the second of the series. A re-issue of "Sign of the Cross" is also shown.

Gretna Green In Maryland Ends As 48-Hour Law Wins

BALTIMORE —(AP)— Baltimore voters apparently ended Elkton's lucrative marriage trade today, supporting by 60,795 to 15,891 a law requiring a 48-hour lapse in Maryland between license and wedding.

The measure admittedly was directed at the "marrying ministers" of the famous Gretna Green where more than 2,000 couples are married monthly.

There appeared no likelihood the outstate vote would upset the Baltimore margin. First returns from Cecil county, of which Elkton is the seat, indicated the vote would be close even there, the count being 110 against to 96 for the law.

POST-ELECTION BUYING WAVE SWEEPS MART

Rise in London Stocks Provides Cue to Reaction to Election Results.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Heavy post-election buying tide swept the stock market higher at the opening today.

A rise in American shares in London before dealings began here provided Wall Street traders with an early cue to the reaction in financial circles to election results in the United States.

Over the election holiday in domestic markets, there had been, moreover, an upswing in security prices in Montreal, Toronto and Paris.

Aside from the election, Wall Street analysts stressed further indications of industrial improvement in this country. Several sizeable orders for heavy steel were expected to help support recent expansion in that key industry.

TAKES STEPS TO EXTEND NYA

City Invites Other Richland Subdivisions to Join in Woodworking Project.

City officials today extended an invitation to all Richland county subdivisions and nearby counties to participate in the advantages of the National Youth Administration woodworking project here.

In a letter to the various subdivision officials today, Glenn Weller, City-PWA engineer, explained that any public agencies were eligible to have furniture and equipment built and repaired at the shop.

He pointed out that it was only necessary that the materials be furnished and that the city be reimbursed for the power bills in connection with the work.

Weller suggested that the various subdivisions could have office furniture and shop equipment of park department made at a low cost in this manner.

The NYA woodworking project, operating at South park now, employs nearly 50 youths between the ages of 18 and 25 from needy Richland county families.

Besides giving the boys employment at $17.50 a month, it also provides for a certain amount of classroom mechanics intended to fit them to the vocation. Carl Heim, NYA supervisor-instructor, said.

The bride is Ruth Creech Howard, and the husband is Wilburn Howard. The case came to attention of authorities when Howard charged his wife had been abducted after he found her cooking in a hill cabin in an adjoining county. Howard brought a morals violation charge against the stepfather and another man. The stepfather in turn placed a morals charge against Howard. The two were married at Ironton, O., last April, according to the girl.

QUIZ FANS BUSY FIRING OUT QUESTIONS FOR 1940 CENSUS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The quiz fans already are preparing for the biggest question-and-answer game of all—the 1940 census.

They are firing questions by the hundreds at the census bureau, offering suggestions on what to ask the millions of American residents. Here are some of them:

"If you're not married, why aren't you?"

"Have you a Bible in your home?"

"What boat did your ancestors come over on?"

"What do you read?"

"Are you over six feet tall?"

While bureau officials don't consider these volunteer questions especially helpful, they said a number of pertinent issues have been brought up in some of the correspondence. The new problem of counting the trailer population, for instance, will be important and difficult.

Other things have happened in the decade since the 1930 count to revolutionize the science of census taking, statisticians say. Here are some of the problems they must figure out before they start the enumeration:

What is a farmer? Since 1930 so many city persons have moved on subsistence farms, farming them part time or when they are out of work, that it is almost impossible to say whether the rural man is a farmer or a business or professional man.

Who is employed? Housewives who take part-time work to augment small family incomes? The man or woman who works only a few months a year? A person who works without salary in the family store or on the farm?

When does a person have an occupation? This problem concerns primarily high school graduates who never have had steady work.

Data to be gathered in the census will be officially suggested by committees of agriculture, manufacturing and business leaders whom Secretary Roper will appoint this month.

Roper and William L. Austin, director of the census bureau, will have the final say.

PENNY CHASER.

GLENDALE, Cal. — (U.P.) — Mrs. Martha Mills sent Judge Frank Lowe a box containing 999 pennies with which to pay a $10 speeding fine. The box was accompanied by a covering letter explaining the payment and enclosing the missing penny which had dropped out of the box.

BRICKER, TAFT LEAD PURGE OF OHIO OFFICES

New Dealers Stung by Huge Vote Avalanche as G. O. P. Makes Clean Sweep.

sentatives, appeared to have won at least 14 of those positions for the next two-year session of congress.

Gain In House.

Besides electing a lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general, Republicans also apparently won an overwhelming majority in the Ohio house of representatives and made important gains in the senate.

Ohio voters vanquished by a clear-cut majority a proposed amendment to the state constitution to provide for the appointment of supreme and appellate court judges.

The intensive verbal battles waged by the Taft-Bulkley and Bricker-Sawyer combinations in the past two months attracted a record off-year vote of close to 2,500,000.

Election of Taft gave Ohio its first Republican member of the United States senate since the late Simeon D. Fess was defeated for re-election in 1934 by Vic Donahey, now Ohio's junior senator.

Bricker's rise to the governorship in the January inauguration will mark the first time since 1928 that a Republican governor has been elected. Democrats have ruled the executive office 24 of the last 30 years.

Taft will carry into the senate his campaign pledges for drastic revision of New Deal policies of administering social security legislaton, a demand for a protective farm tariff, and a return of relief administration to local communities wth federal aid.

During his historic series of six Lincoln-Douglas type debates with Bulkley, several marked by outbursts of heckling as they shared the platform "stump," one-time State Legislator Taft advocated a return of the country to "constitutional government."

New Deal Stumper.

Bulkley had campaigned on his New Deal record and eight years of service in the federal senate. He had been labelled by Republicans as a "rubber stamp" senator. He emphatically denied the designation, but pledged himself to defend President Roosevelt—his former Harvard classmate—"against his enemies."

Taft's rise to the senatorship added a spectacular chapter to the political history of Ohio—often called the "mother of presidents."

Comparatively unknown except in his home town of Cincinnati, where he has a lucrative law practice, and by those who recalled his sponsorship of tax legislation a number of years ago in the Ohio legislature, Taft rapidly won a following with the same congenial spirit that was typical of his late father.

Because of the politically valuable Taft name and his asserted Progressive tendencies, the senator-elect was expected by national political observers to be an important figure in the hunt for presidential candidates. This likelihood also became more pronounced after the New York defeat of Thomas Dewey, racket-busting gubernatorial candidate.

Two years ago a landslide vote for President Roosevelt resulted in the re-election of Gov. Martin L. Davey over Bricker, the election of officials to all state offices and selection of overwhelming Democratic majorities in the Ohio legislature and the state's representatives in congress.

Bricker has promised a state "house cleaning from top to bottom."

Both For 'Clean-Up.

Both he and former Lieutenant Governor Sawyer had promised to rout so-called "fixers" and "shake down artists", whom they said, infested the Davey administration. They also promised to remove "politics" from a number of state divisions.

The Taft Bricker triumph was a blow to the CIO whose leaders had endorsed Bulkley and Sawyer. The latter pair also carried the personal approval of William Green, AFL president.

Sawyer fought without the support of Governor Davey and his followers. There was no indication, however, of what effect the Democratic split had on the Bricker-Sawyer vote.

Davey had charged that if Sawyer were elected, John L. Lewis' CIO would seek to establish an industrial dictartorship in the state. The governor has been an arch foe of the CIO and only last week his dispatch of troops to Middletown ended a CIO-sponsored strike.

Bricker took up the alleged alliance between Sawyer and Lewis and also criticized his opponent for accepting support of Communists.

Sawyer charged during the campaign that Bricker had made a "deal" with Davey whereby administration followers would support Bricker in return for 30 per cent of the state liquor department's patronage. Bricker denied such a "deal," and Davey maintained an attitude of silence throughout the campaign.

Ohio's governor-elect is a Columbus lawyer who was attorney general for four years. In view of his victory he also expected to be regarded as one of the coming Republican leaders of the country.

The Republican victory swept all Democratic officials out of the state house except Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson who was elected two years ago to a four-year term.

William J. Kennedy of Cleveland, biggest Democratic vote-getter on the state ticket two ago, bowed in the secretary of state race to Earl Griffith, Mount Gilead publisher.

Former State Sen. James Metzenbaum of Cleveland, who prosecuted for a band of insurgent senate Democrats an investigation of "legalized graft" in state departments last winter, was defeated for lieutenant governor by Paul M. Herbert, Columbus attorney and former state legislator.

Duffy Gets Trouncing.

Thomas J. Herbert, Cleveland Heights attorney, trounced Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy, who was active during the past two years in an investigation of the state parole system and an inquiry of the alleged political assessment of state civil service workers which resulted in the indictment of 18 aids of Governor Davey.

Griffith, Paul Herbert and Thomas Herbert, like Bricker, were nominees two years ago for the positions which they won in Tuesday's balloting.

Don Ebright, Akron's finance director, replaced Clarence H. Knisley of Bainbridge as treasurer. Knisley was the only treasurer in Ohio's history to sponsor a "swing band."

A late rally, due chiefly to late returns from Cuyahoga county, re-elected Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt to his place on the supreme court.

Throughout last night, Weygandt had trailed Walter B. Wanamaker, Akron, but at noon today caught up to and passed his rival.

Edward S. Matthias of Van Wert, a member of the supreme court since 1915, won his fifth consecutive six-year term by swamping R. M. Winegardner of Columbus, a tax commission attorney.

Another court member who lost out was Robert N. Gorman of Cincinnati, replaced by William L. Hart of Alliance, who was a short-term member of the court several years ago.

Matthias will serve a term beginning Jan. 1 and Hart one starting Jan. 2. Wanamaker, Matthias and Hart are Republicans, but all ran on a non-partisan ballot.

In the race for a six-weeks term on the supreme court, William C. Dixon, state relief director and Cleveland Democrat, amassed a comfortable lead over G. K. Allen, Cleveland Republican.

Since 1912, Ohio has had only three Republican governors, Frank B. Willis of Delaware, Harry L. Davis of Cleveland and Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, each of whom served one term.

'Congratulations,' Sawyer to Bricker

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Charles Sawyer, Democrat, early today sent the following telegram to John W. Bricker, Republican, who defeated him in the race for governor:

"Congratulations on your victory. The voters have spoken and I cheerfully abide by their decision."

Bricker, First G. O. P. Governor In 10 Years, Also One of Youngest Republican Victor Made Start as Teacher in Country School.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—In electing John W. Bricker as their next governor, the voters of Ohio chose a strapping six footer with iron gray hair who came to Ohio State university as a farm boy 27 years ago and remained at the state capital to make a name for himself in politics, law and public office.

Bricker at 45 is one of the youngest men elected to the governorship in recent years. He is tall and well set-up, with only his graying hair and a slight bulge at the waist line attesting to the years that have passed since he caught for "State's" 1916 baseball team.

His inaugural next January will mark the induction into office of the first Republican governor since 1929 when Gov. Myers Y. Cooper began his single term after defeating the now retiring Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Since 1935 Bricker has been hammering at the Democratic clutch on state government. Davey bested him in 1936, the year of the Roosevelt landslide. But Bricker won a second uncontested nomination this year and delivered his campaign blows with telling effect upon Charles Sawyer who earlier had eliminated Davey as the Democratic state leader.

By his victory yesterday Bricker automatically becomes one of the leading men in the national Republican party as it girds for the great contest over the presidency in 1940.

Bricker was born Sept. 6, 1893, on a farm in Madison county, not far from the village of Mt. Sterlin, 30 miles south of Columbus, the son of Lemuel Spencer Bricker and Laura King Spencer. His mother is living and has taken part in some of her son's campaign rallies.

His family was in modest circumstances and following his graduation from high school Bricker worked a year teaching country school before he matriculated at Ohio State in the fall of 1912. At the university he was a member of Delta Chi social fraternity, captain of the debating team, catcher on the baseball team, president of the Y. M. C. A. and for one year president of his class. There he met the former Harriet Day, of Urbana, whom he married in 1920.

At the outbreak of the World war he became a regimental athletic instructor at Camp Sherman and later a chaplain. He was mustered out in the latter capacity with the rank of first lieutenant. He returned to law school after the war and took his degree the same year of his marriage.

Ohio's Next Governor and His Family.

The Brickers live quietly in their Columbus residence, confining their social activities largely to small affairs with close friends. They have one young son, John Day Bricker. The governor-elect for sports chooses fishing. He retains his fondness for baseball—as a spectator—and like most Columbus residents generally has a touch of football insanity in the fall. He admits he is only a fair hand on the golf links.

He reached the governor's chair after practicing law and holding important public offices over an 18-year period. His first public position was as solicitor for a suburban Franklin county village followed by his appointment as an assistant attorney general in 1923.

He was assigned in that capacity as counsel for the state utilities commission and in 1929 was made a member of the commission by Governor Cooper. He won considerable attention as an advocate of lower municipal utility rates and of speedy disposition of cases before the commission.

Bricker was elected attorney general of Ohio in 1932 and won re-election in 1934, retiring in 1937 after his defeat for the governorship the first time out by Governor Davey.

As attorney general he conducted his office with much less expense to the taxpayers than many of his predecessors and turned back part of his appropriation to the treasury on leaving office. He successfully defended the Ohio "milk case," appeared before the U. S supreme court in support of state minimum wage laws on his own initiative and his official opinions upheld validity of old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

VETERAN OF 100 ARRESTS SENT TO PEN FOR LOOTING BOX CARS

Lindsay Schaffer, 44, a transient, who said he had been arrested "about 100 times" for minor offenses, was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for one to three years yesterday on his plea of guilty in common pleas court to an indictment for removing railroad property.

Judge C. H. Huston, who sentenced Schaffer, said he had attempted to place him in the soldiers' home at Sandusky, but because of his criminal record, officials of the institution would not accept him.

Schaffer pleaded guilty several weeks ago to the indictment which accused him of removing packing from B. and O. freight cars in Mansfield. Most of the other arrests were for intoxication and loitering, Schaffer said.

In passing sentence, Judge Huston said: "You are a nuisance rather than a menace, and I'm sure you promised the officers after all those other arrests that you'd behave yourself."

Warning James Thompson, 39, of Mansfield, that "the next complaint against you will bring a penitentiary term," Judge Huston gave Thompson another chance after he had been cited for non-support.

Thompson, who was on probation following a previous indictment for failure to support his family, told Judge Huston he spent his week-ends playing cards with his friends.

Mrs. Alice Thompson, his wife, testified she was forced to work to support their three sons, the oldest 11, although Thompson had a job.

PLANS SOCIAL

Youth Cooperative to Hold Event Nov. 21 at East Mansfield.

Plans for a box social to be held Nov. 21 at East Mansfield school were made at a meeting of the Richland County Youth Cooperative at Springfield township high school Monday night.

Eight members of the group named to a publicity committee were Junior Humphrey, chairman; Jay Hairman, Ontario; William Steedant, Adario; James Tolles, Weller; Evalyn Schmidt, Mansfield; Inez Snyder, Butler; Richard Hunt, Madison; and David Culler, Lucas.

The program included a talk on the subject "Youth Wants Security" by Max McFarland.

DAYTON REJECTS SCHOOL LEVY

$500,000 Issue Defeated and Makes Crisis More Severe.

DAYTON, O.—(AP)—Dayton voters turned down a proposed two-mill levy designed to raise $500,000 annually for five years for their schools, which have been closed since Oct. 30 because of a financial crisis.

The vote was 28,779 for, 35,063 against. A 65 per cent favorable vote would have been required for approval. The state department of education has warned that failure of the levy would prevent a full school term next year.

HUGE PROTEST VOTE TOPPLES 'SOLID FRONT'

Republican Comeback Delivers Retaliation for Crushing Defeat of 1932.

the last two years, the Democrats had ruled:

Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Kansas, Massachusetts, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Michigan, Ohio and Wyoming.

They also captured the Wisconsin administration from Gov. Philip LaFollette, head of the Progressive party, and appeared favored to win in Minnesota, where the Farm-Laborites have been in power since 1930.

Senate upheavals were not so large, but they far exceeded Democratic predictions of what the Republicans would win. In addition to Pennsylvania, Republicans captured senate seats in Connecticut, Kansas, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Glenn Frank, chairman of the Republican national program committee, hailed these results as evidencing "a return to political and economic sanity."

"The drift toward a virtually one-party nation, with the vindictive intolerance that goes with it, has been stopped," he said

G. O. P. Loses Maryland.

The Republicans, on the other hand, lost the Maryland governorship. In California there was a prospect of a Democratic governor for the first time in 40 years. Culbert Olson, whom President Roosevelt endorsed as a "liberal," piled up an impressive lead over the Republican incumbent, Frank F. Merriam.

Among the Democratic senators defeated were McGill of Kansas, co-author of the crop control act; Bulkley of Ohio, Harvard classmate of the president; Brown of New Hampshire, and Duffy of Wisconsin, who had the president's endorsement.

Both of the country's foremost minor parties—the Progressives and the Farmer-Laborites—suffered severely under the impact of the Republican drive.

In Wisconsin, home of the Progressives, Julius P. Heil, (R) Milwaukee manufacturer, defeated Gov. Philip F. LaFollette, leader of the Progressives. In Minnesota Harld Stassen (R) had a wide lead over Gov. Elmer A. Benson (F-L).

Republican gains erased from house rolls several well known names though for the most part these Democratic losses were largely among members who had come in with the Roosevelt landslides. Mrs. Nan Honeyman of Oregon, Rep. Brooks Fletcher of Ohio and Rep. Haines of Pennsylvania were among the losers.

O'Connor Defeated.

Another house member who went out was Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York, chairman of the house rules committee. He was running as a Republican after having lost the Democratic nomination to James H. Fay, who had been supported by President Roosevelt in his primary drive against conservative Democrats.

The apparent defeat of the $30-Every-Thursday plan in California topped the list of state actions in referenda. In Colorado, however, the voters decided to retain their $45-a-month old age pension plan, the most liberal of the nation.

To the day's excitement Kentucky made its well-precedented contribution—a series of gun fights in which a total of eight persons were killed—four of them in "bloody Harlan" county. The National Guard was summoned and vote-counting stopped there. This was the state's bloodiest election since 1933, when 18 persons were slain.

While some Republican victories were not unexpected by Democratic leaders, the later studied the returns with extraordinary care today, both for their effect on the conduct of congress during the next two years and on the presidential campaign in 1940.

Republican strategists had put particular emphasis on winning governorships, hoping thereby to build up state organizations preparatory to 1940. Democrats had been equally zealous in trying to protect the Republican territory they had taken over since 1928.

The elections of that year, which put Herbert Hoover in the White House, were the last until yesterday in which the Republican party had gained strength.

President Roosevelt went to bed at 1 a. m., without commenting on the returns, which he received with his family at Hyde Park, N. Y.

PUT BIKE GRIPS ON JAIL DOORS

Cuyahoga Officers Find Way To Prevent Soreness.

CLEVELAND —(AP)—Cuyahoga county authorities are feeling better these days, now that they've found a satisfactory remedy for "jail door hands."

Principally affected by the "occupational disease" were jailers, who open the barred doors at the jail entrances many hundreds of times daily. Bicycle handlebar grips, installed on two bars of each door, solved the problem of painful callouses.

G. O. P. DRIVES WEDGE EVEN IN HOLMES COUNTY

Democrats Victors, But Three Townships Break Precedent and Go Republican.

(By Staff Correspondent)

MILLERSBURG— Traditionally Democratic Holmes county stayed that way at yesterday's election, giving Democratic candidates an edge in all state and county contests but slighting Democratic Senator Robert J. Bulkley by giving his Republican opponent, Robert A. Taft, an edge in the race for U. S. senator. Bulkley was defeated by Taft.

Three townships in the county, Clark, Berlin and Walnut Creek, never known to have gone Republican, did so yesterday. In all, 11 of 27 precincts voted Republican majorities.

In the only Republican margin it gave, the county voted 2,417 to 2,220 to favor Taft over Bulkley in the senatorial race.

Fair Wins Third Term.

Representative A. Lee Fair, Democrat running for a third term in the general assembly, defeated his Republican opponent, D. P. Alderman, by 107 votes in the only race on the county ticket. Fair polled 2,468 votes against 2,361 for Alderman.

Unopposed for county offices this year were Ruby Walter for county treasurer; Clifford C Lower for county commissioner and H. E. Gray for county auditor. All are Democrats.

Unofficial returns for state offices gave:

For governor—Sawyer (D) 2,601, Bricker (R) 2,449; lieutenant governor—Metzenbaum (D) 2,246, Herbert 2,085; secretary of state—Kennedy (D) 2,547, Griffith (R) 1,871; state treasurer—Knisley (D) 2,520, Ebright (R) 1,892; attorney general—Duffy (D) 2,404, Herbert 1,942.

For representative to congress at large, McSweeney (D) polled 2,738 votes, Young (D) 2,263, Bender (R) 1,766 and Marshall (R) 1,711.

William R. Thom (D) polled 2,440 votes against 2,325 for James Seccombe (R) in the contest for district congressman.

Garver, Laird Win.

Majorities also were given Democratic candidates in the races for the two posts as state senator. W. F. Garver polled 2,694 votes and Abe Laird 2,326. The Republican nominees were Walter G. Nickels with 1,804 votes and Charles W. Maston with 1,706.

On the judicial ticket, the county voted:

Supreme court justice—Weygandt 2,280, Wanamaker 1,225; supreme court justice (long term) Winegardner 1,788, Matthias 1,348; supreme court justice (long term) Hart 1,984, Gorman 1,189; supreme court justice (short term) Dixon 1,590, Allen 1,271.

In the court of appeals race Judge Charles W. Montgomery polled 2,078 votes against 873 for Thomas P. Jones.

County Winners

RALPH C. LUTZ

C. L. MITCHELL

These two Richland county Democrats withstood the Republican landslide in Tuesday's election and were returned to office. Lutz, Lexington lumber dealer, won a third term as Richland county representative in the Ohio assembly, defeating Harry H. Maxwell, Mansfield. Mitchell gained a second term as county commissioner in another close race, just nosing out John C. Friday, his Republican opponent.

Jitterbugs Warm Up for First Jam Session Saturday

Jitterbugs of Mansfield were warming up today for the first jitterbug jamboree, one of a series of seven, that will take over the Ohio theater stage Saturday night.

Registrations are being made at the theater and it is expected that six couples or more will take part in each session.

Cash awards of $22 50 for each night and $50 for the final night on Dec. 24, are attracting the younger dancers of the city. Saturday night's winners will be awarded $10 for first place, $7.50 for second place and $5 for third.

Each couple may compete on the basis of their own dance selection, and everything from the shag to the Lambeth Walk will be in order. Only professional dancers are barred.

Those who take part in Saturday night's jamboree must register before Saturday night and make arrangements for the music they want, Frank Harpster, manager of the theater, said today.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

CHAPTER 41

In the bank, in Judy's name, there still reposed the money, untouched, which her father had deposited to her credit. She had refused to accept the bankbook which belonged to the account. She had written no checks against it.

But now the man she loved was in danger, and pride was a foolish barrier to any help that she could give him. With money he could trace the mysterious man in the green fedora and plaid coat. With money — with a bitter shadow across the smooth oval of her face because money that should be so unimportant had such power to save, protect, or destroy, she said:

"If you want me to take the money still, I think it might buy lots of things I'd like."

Lots of things—Ronald's good name. His belief in humanity. His vision recaptured. The reward for which he had sacrificed in the lean, hungry years. Lots of things! Things of which her father and Mr. Heaton had no knowledge—for they had not come up through tribulation.

With the bankbook and a checkbook in her handbag, Judy hailed a taxicab and went to the courthouse. It took a little while to discover in which room Ronald's case was being tried. He was speaking as she looked through a crack in the door. An attendant motioned to her to come in, sit quietly, not interfere with the normal procedure of justice in the courts of the land. Justice! It was a misused word. She wanted to laugh and she was going to cry. But all she did, finally was shake her head, give the bailiff a watery smile, and stand by the green brass-studded door as the case droned on.

How would she present the money? Would she be able to persuade Ronald that it was a friendly loan such as she would make to any friend in a crucial moment? He would reject a gift, but a loan was so different! It was purely a business proposition. A business proposition, prompted by love, but he must never know that. If he did, then he would push it from him firmly and go alone to seek his enemy. She must be gay, nonchalant, pretending that the trouble would be rooted soon and they would laugh together.

But what if he said: "Suppose I lose, Judy? What then? I can't pay you back for years!"

Then she would say: "But that's all right. Can't friends make gifts? What is friendship worth?"

And all of the time she would be repeating over and over in her heart, like you said silly rhymes that stuck and wouldn't go away: "Ronald, I love you, I love you! Don't pay me back! Let me do this for you, just this! Because never again in the world will there be a time when I can help you."

Court adjourned. Ronald spoke to the judge a moment, picked up his brief case and hat from a near-by chair, and started through an inner door. She had thought he would use the main entrance. She did not know where the small door, through which he was passing, led, but she ran after him.

Someone called to her as she opened the gate that led to the small enclosure where witnesses waited to be summoned. She pretended that she did not hear. She followed Ronald. He was swinging down a dim corridor ahead of her. She called him.

He turned, waited, saw who it was that trailed him, and spoke in surprise: "Judy! Where did you come from?"

* * *

Now that she was here it seemed ridiculous, just as her errand of mercy had appeared a few nights ago when she had brought him news of the slight, short man in the rakish fedora.

"I've turned detective and I've unearthed some more news," she said in a voice whose calmness amazed her.

His grin was boyish and young. "I was thinking about you, Judy. I thought I'd call you up. In fact I was cutting through here to get to a pay telephone."

She must not use these words as balm for her heart. Her status had not changed. Deserted by the girl he loved, Ronald had sought a friend, that was all.

"Where shall we go?" he asked as simply as a trusting child.

Judy choked on the lump of compassion that welled up in her throat, so it was a moment before she could answer. In the interim he signaled a taxicab, helped her in, sank down in a corner.

"It's great to be alone," he said. "Mind not talking for a minute? I want to enjoy this—you, the cab, the peace."

The brakes screeched dangerously as he spoke, the car began to skid, and stopped with such a jolt that it threw Judy against him.

"The peace . . . " she echoed, laughing tremulously. Then the laughter died for Ronald's hand had seized hers and was holding it tightly. She felt a tremor pass down his arm, the fingers loosened.

But as he put her hand back, he said: "Don't go away, Judy."

Away? Oh, that was the silent prayer with which she had been beseeching him.

"Where would I go?" she asked aloud.

"Back to your old world—to parties and balls and the Court of St. James, to Cannes and Monte Carlo and Newport."

"Can't do it. The gates are all locked and I've dumped the keys in the river. I like my new address better."

"That's what I hoped you would say."

"But what about you, Ronald? Can you prove your story soon?"

His face was not worried as he smiled at her. "I may not be able to prove it at all."

He laughed. "What is there to fear? If I've been thrown a foul ball, well, the next time the batter may do better. Cheer up, Judy. I'm not licked yet."

"You may be asked to leave the firm," she said slowly.

"No, Judy, they won't have a chance to ask me. I sent my resignation by special delivery, registered mail, just before I went into court so Mr. Heaton won't have that embarrassment. He's really a good old scout—".

"But you shouldn't, Ronald! Don't you see, they'll take it as an evidence of guilt" She shook her head swiftly.

"Honey, quiet down. Mr. Heaton's been kind to me. I'm not going to share the legal embarrassment over this scrap with him. It's my fight. I'll win—but I won't ask my friends to make faint applause when the joust looks fearful."

His chin was stubborn again. His long, hard body was tense. He spoke with added vigor, tossing away the moment of surrender to fatigue.

"Here is one friend who won't be quailed!" Now she must tell him of the money.

She heard the patter of snow on the top of the cab, saw the play of red and green where the traffic lights swung their gaudy signals, smelled fish and salt air and noted for the first time that the cab was speeding along the wharves.

The window which divided the cab driver's seat from the passenger compartment was not quite closed. So she said:

"Ronald, will you ask the driver to pull up the partition, please?"

"Cold?" he asked, as he presented her request.

"No, but I want to talk confidentially." She opened her handbag. If she had the tangible evidence of that bankbook to which to cling, it would be easier to talk. Her fingers closed over something that crackled—the envelope with the letters of the alphabet which Coralee's father had made for her.

Oh, what a detective she was! What a perfectly glorious flop as a helper and an aid. She had forgotten her most important news for the moment. Forgotten it because Ronald had held her hand as though he never, never wanted to let it go.

He was looking at her with interest, waiting for her to speak.

G. O. P. SWEEPS MORROW AGAIN BY BIG MARGIN

County Boosts Usual 800-Vote Republican Majority to 1,600.

MT. GILEAD — Traditionally Republican Morrow county doubled its customary G. O. P. majorities in yesterday's Republican landslide, complete unofficial returns showed today.

With 6,493 voters going to the polls, the largest off-year total in history, Morrow gave Republican candidates, with one exception, commanding majorities.

Usually Republican by 800 votes, the county increased its majority for G. O. P. candidates to 1,600 in most cases yesterday.

While voting for a change in state government, Morrow electors also approved five tax levies and then turned down four other levies to provide funds for the maintenance and upkeep of cemeteries in four townships.

The county jumped on the Bricker bandwagon with both feet, giving the newly elected Republican governor a vote of 4,217 to 2,442 for Charles Sawyer, his Democratic opponent. Its vote for Robert A. Taft for U. S. senator was 4,241 to 2,267 for Robert J. Bulkley, Democratic incumbent.

Help Elect 'Home Towner.'

Morrow also had the pleasure of electing to a state office one of its leading citizens, Earl Griffith, Mt. Gilead publisher. Griffith received 4,029 votes for secretary of state to 2,399 for William J. Kennedy, Democratic incumbent.

Other Republicans to receive majorities were Paul M. Herbert for lieutenant governor; Don H. Ebright for state treasurer; Thomas J. Herbert for attorney general, and George H. Bender and L. L. Marshall for congressman at large.

J. G. Mills, Republican, was elected state representative for the third time, defeating C. H. Patzer 3634 to 2644.

Frederick C. Smith received 3,572 votes for district congressman over 2,389 for Brooks Fletcher, who has held the office for three consecutive terms.

The county gave commanding majorities to W. G. Nichols and Charles Matson for state senator over their two Democratic opponents, W. F. Garver and Abe Laird.

George G. Thomas was elected county commissioner over Burson Ulrey by a vote of 3,565 to 2,973. County Auditor Harold Taylor, who was unopposed for re-election, polled 4,583 complimentary votes.

Tax levies for Bennington township and Marengo corporation, Sparta village, Edison village, and two in the village of Cardington passed.

Levies for the maintenance and upkeep of cemeteries were defeated in Congress, Gilead, Franklin, and North Bloomfield townships.

Germany's Demand For Old Colonies Out in Open Again

BERLIN—(INS)—Germany's demand for restoration of her pre-war colonies once more was out in the open today following Chancellor Hitler's Munich speech in which he declared the only question remaining for the Reich is an agreement over colonies "which were taken from us on pretexts contrary to justice."

Combining his reiteration of Germany's colonial demands with a bitter attack on Jews as the "international parasites" responsible for Germany's collapse at the end of the World war, Hitler, in an address marking the 15th anniversary of the Nazi beer-cellar putsch, said German is willing to negotiate on this point. He added:

"Nazi Germany will never go begging. We do not go to Canossa. We wish to negotiate, but if others decline to grant our rights we shall secure them in a different way."

BURN SYNAGOGUE

BERLIN — (U.P.) — The official news agency reported today that anti-Jewish demonstrators burned a synagogue at Hersfeld. Key Nazi publications at the same time threatened merciless reprisals against Jews for the shooting of a German embassy secretary at Paris by a 17-year-old Jew.

1-VOTE PRECINCT COSTS N. Y. $500

Here's Annual Story of Rabbi and The Ballot He Marked.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Here is the annual story of the lone voter of the 42nd precinct of the 10th assembly district and how his ballot cost the city about $500.

Rabbi Nathan Wolf of the Times Square Synagogue, the only person in his industrialized district eligible to vote, cast his ballot in a barbershop. Four election officials, two policemen and about 100 spectators watched the proceeding.

Rabbi Wolf said he voted for Governor Lehman.

where throughout the state. Of of the 43 New York congressional races, 26, had been decided, with Republicans winning 15, Democrats 11.

Among the congressional candidates, James J. O'Connor, chairman of the house rules committee, who was defeated by the Democrats and nominated by Republicans in the primary, lost the election to James H. Fay, New Deal Democrat. Rep. Bruce Barton, R., was re-elected in Manhattan's "Silk Stocking" district, over Walter H. Liebman, D.

Dewey, after congratulating Lehman, announced that he would "return to his job" of district attorney of New York county.

James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, in a nation-wide radio broadcast from New York City soon after Dewey had conceded, said "the thing for every citizen to do is to give Gov. Lehman and those associated with him their hearty support to the end that the state of New York will continue to have in the future, as in the past, a most efficient, intelligent and honest administration."

NEW LAFOLLETTE PARTY SNUBBED

Wisconsin Rejects Governor's Progressives, Turns to Republican Fold.

(By United Press)

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Wisconsin rejected Gov. Philip F. La Follette and his new party, National Progressives of America, today and went Republican.

In returning the Republican party to power for the first time since 1930, Wisconsin voters retired one loyal New Dealer, Sen. F. Ryan Duffy, Dem., in a show of strength that threatened Sen. Robert M. La Follette, jr., with the fate of his governor-brother in 1940. They also marked up victories in congress, state offices, and the legislature.

Returns from 2231 of the state's 2,995 precincts for governor gave Heil 345,813 votes, La Follette, 222,895 and Harry W. Bolens, D., 89,515.

Alexander Wiley, a Chippewa Falls attorney who entered state politics for the first time as a candidate for governor in 1936, was elected United States senator succeeding Duffey, who ran third. Lieut. Gov. Herman L. Ekern, La Follette's hand-picked candidate, ran second to the successful Republican, Wiley.

Returns from 2231 precincts for U. S. sen.: Duffey 135,048, Wiley 290,857, Ekern 162,361.

MURPHY, OF SIT-DOWN FAME, BEATEN IN MICHIGAN CONTEST

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT — Frank Murphy, Michigan's New Deal governor, was unseated in Tuesday's election by Frank B. Fitzgerald, Republican, who was the state's chief executive in 1935 and 1936.

Returns from 2,696 out of 3,553 precincts gave Fitzgerald 611,229 votes, and Murphy 524,369.

Democrats expected that missing precincts in Detroit, which Murphy served as judge and mayor, would reduce Fitzgerald's margin, but not enough to change the results.

Governor Murphy, conceding defeat, said in a formal statement:

"I fully accept the verdict of democracy. It has been a great privilege to serve the people of Michigan. My faith in the people is unshaken."

The governor had indicated during the night he expected defeat and was plainly dejected. However, a telephone call from President Roosevelt cheered the governor before the outcome became plain.

It was the first defeat for Murphy in political life. He resigned as governor general of the Philippines to campaign successfully for governor of Michigan in the 1936 presidential year.

Murphy's conciliatory labor policies during the automobile sit-down strikes of 1937 were criticized constantly by Fitzgerald during the campaign.

President Roosevelt had endorsed Murphy and indicated he considered the Michigan gubernatorial contest of special significance.

Riding to victory with Fitzgerald were nine Republican congressmen. In addition the Republicans won at least one additional seat, William W. Blackney prevailing over Andrew J. Transue. Democratic representative from the sixth (Flint) district.

ASHBROOK WINS HECTIC SCRAP

Veteran Congressman Stands Out in G. O. P. Landslide, Victor by 5,000.

all of the 17th district's six counties gave Ashbrook 51,747 votes to 46,261 for Woodward.

Heads Ticket In County.

Ashbrook carried Richland county by 737 votes and headed the Democratic ticket in the county with a total of 12,154 votes. Woodward polled 11,417 votes in the county, winning majorities in Shelby and many of the rural areas, but losing Mansfield by a vote of 5,803 to 6,720.

Ashbrook's winning margins were in his home county of Licking where he ran 4,300 ahead of Woodward and in Coshocton county where he topped the Townsend candidate by more than 3,200 votes. Woodward showed surprising strength in Knox and Delaware counties where he rolled up majorities of 1,720 and 1,160 votes, although both were expected to favor him. He had a 17-vote edge over Ashbrook in Ashland county.

Endorsed by the Richland county Republican organization and given financial help by the Republican national committee, Woodward, who has never held a public office, campaigned on a promise to "retain constitutional government and help to enact the Townsend plan."

He was attacked by Ashbrook in a number of campaign talks for his support of the Townsend plan which would provide pensions up to $200 a month for persons over 65.

Ashbrook, who went to Washington in 1907 as the 17th district representative to congress, is serving his ninth term in congress, but not in succession. He has consistently polled majorities over his opponents even in Republican years. He is 71 years old.

Woodward, a former school teacher, lives on a farm near Bellville. He served six years on the county election board.

Complete tabulations from the district showed the following county figures:

	Ashbrook	Woodward
Richland	12,154	11,417
Ashland	6,068	6,086
Knox	5,610	7,330
Licking	14,380	10,121
Coshocton	7,902	4,630
Delaware	5,633	6,677
Totals	51,747	46,261

CRAWFORD PUTS TAFT, BRICKER OUT IN FRONT

Shatters Precedent of Long Standing But Gives Rest of Ticket to Dems.

BUCYRUS — Crawford county shattered a precedent of years in Tuesday's election and gave a majority to Republican candidates.

It sent Robert A. Taft, Republican senatorial candidate on his way to victory with an edge over New Dealer Robert J. Bulkley and it gave John W. Bricker, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, a lead over Charles Sawyer, Democrat.

It was the first time in the memory of veteran political observers that Crawford county had ever given a majority to a Republican.

Taft and Bricker were the only Republicans to carry the county; despite the state-wide sweep of the G. O. P. for state and federal offices.

All Rest Democratic.

The rest of the ticket went as Crawford county tickets are supposed to go—Democratic.

Complete but unofficial figures for the county's 54 precincts gave Bricker 6,812 and Sawyer 6,641. Taft did even better than Bricker. He polled 6,898 while Bulkley got but 6,200.

The rest of the state ticket was orthodox—Democratic, from lieutenant governor on down through the county offices.

In the county races there was an interesting development. Clarence Metzger, Democrat incumbent, won a third term as county auditor.

It was the first time that Crawford county had ever elected a candidate to a third term. But Metzger did even better than that. He led the Democratic ticket—except for Kenneth Petri of Galion, who was unopposed for the state assembly—with a vote of 7,401. His Republican opponent, Frederick Klein, polled 5,694.

For eighth district representative in congress, Crawford favored Brookes Fletcher.

He polled 6,646 to 6,328 for Frederick C. Smith, his Republican opponent.

For state senator Crawford favored Andrew T. Durbin over D. A. Liggit, 6,125 to 6,077.

Many Close Races.

That race was close—but there were many races that were close, considering that Crawford usually is about as solidly Democratic as the solid south.

C. Oberlander defeated Harry T. Jackson, Republican, for the county commissioner post, 6,661 to 6,347.

Crawford county also showed that it had made up its mind about the constitutional amendment concerning the method of selecting judges. It voted down the amendment emphatically, 7,206 to 2,817.

For the court of appeals in the district, Crawford favored W. J. Schwenk, veteran attorney, over Charles Guernsey, incumbent, 7,369 ot 3,533.

HALL ASSURED

Butler Passes $14,000 Bond Issue for Township House.

Residents of Butler township were assured of a new township house in which to hold meetings and elections when voters approved a $14,000 bond issue for the erection of a township house at Adario in Tuesday's election.

The issue carried by a vote of 183 for to 70 against, winning by a margin of 19 votes. A 65 per cent majority was needed to approve the issue which passed by 72 per cent vote.

Presented to the voters at a special election in June, the issue was defeated by a small margin the first time. The bond issue provides for the levying of taxes outside the ten mill limitation to average not more than 2.26 mills for a maximum period of 15 years to pay the principal and interest of such bonds.

The new house will replace the meeting hall which was destroyed by fire last winter when fire broke out during a Grange meeting.

'Arbitrary Power' Protested, Taft Says

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Robert A. Taft, Republican victor over Sen. Robert J. Bulkley for the U. S. senatorship, said today the election showed "beyond any question that the people of Ohio are opposed to arbitrary power, unreasonable regulation of industry and agriculture and wasteful extravagance. I am deeply grateful for the vote I received."

ROOSEVELT'S NATIVE NEW YORK STAYS IN DEMOCRATIC COLUMN

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—President Roosevelt's native New York — which will be of the greatest strategic importance in the 1940 presidential year—remained Democratic in major contests in yesterday's spectacular state election.

Substantially complete returns showed Gov. Herbert H. Lehman re-elected over his Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, but with a plurality so small that during much of the night nobody could predict the outcome.

With only nine of the 9,051 election districts in the state unreported, the governor had a lead of less than 70,000 votes in a total of nearly 4,700,000. The figures were Lehman 2,382,140; Dewey 2,313,582.

Sen. Robert F. Wagner, author of the labor act bearing his name, appeared safe, as was Rep. James M. Mead for the other New York senatorial seat—made vacant by the death of Sen. Royal S. Copeland.

The president had strongly and publicly appealed for Lehman, for Wagner and for Mead, and his prestige was directly involved.

The Republicans took control of the state senate. They already controlled the state assembly.

The two seats for representative-at-large appeared won by Democrats, one of whom was the incumbent Caroline O'Day, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's close friend.

One feature of the election was the showing of the relatively infant American labor party, which apparently polled somewhat between 350,000 and 400,000 votes. In all top races ALP adopted Democratic candidates as its own.

Dewey gave Lehman such a run as he never had known in his three previous gubernatorial campaigns. Upstate, normally Republican, returned handsome Dewey pluralities; New York City, historically democratic, rolled up a Lehman plurality of some 680,000.

Dewey, who will carry on his present office as Manhattan district attorney, ran vastly ahead of the rest of the Republican ticket.

ASHLAND SHIFT PUTS COUNTY IN VICTORY LIST

Wicks, County Auditor, Only Dem to Be Elected; Taft, Bricker Get Margins.

ASHLAND — Ashland county, usually Democratic, was swept into the Republican column at Tuesday's election, only one Democratic candidate in the county surviving the Republican landslide.

The lone victor on the Democratic ticket was F. E. Wicks, incumbent county auditor, who was re-elected by a 1,112 majority over his Republican opponent, T. O. Deibler. Wicks has served one term.

County voters gave John W. Bricker, Republican candidate for governor, a 1,423 vote margin over Charles Sawyer, defeated Democratic candidate.

The Republican margin in the U. S. senatorial race was 1,999 votes, with Robert A. Taft receiving 7,079 votes to 5,089 for Senator Robert J. Bulkley, Democrat.

Tugend Defeated.

George W. Tugend, Democratic county commissioner who sought his third term, was defeated by Tom J. Stence, Republican, 8,004 to 4,424 votes. In other strictly county races, J. F. Church, Republican, won over Guy B. Murray, Democratic incumbent representative to the general assembly, while H. E. Culbertson, former county prosecutor, held a margin of nearly 1,000 votes over C. W. Chorpening for common pleas judge. Chorpening is Ashland jolice judge.

The county's closest contest saw Congressman William A. Ashbrook lose to Walter B. Woodward, Townsend-backed Republican candidate for congress in the 17th district, by only 17 votes.

Voters in the Perry township, Polk village, Sullivan and Perrysville school districts approved two mill operating levies for schools.

Milton township, southwest of Ashland, voted 182 to 175 to permit the sale of 3.2 beer. Voters, however, outlawed the sale of intoxicating liquor.

On the judicial ticket, county voters gave majorities to Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt, Judge Edward S. Matthies, William L. Hart, and William C. Dixon for the Ohio Supreme court, and Judge Charles W. Montgomery for re-election to the Fifth district court of appeals.

The county gae P. H. Rogers, Republican, a 6,101 to 5,285 vote over Maurice C. Brown, Democrat, for state senator from the 27th-29th district.

PLANT CHANGES COAL INTO OIL

Scientific Group Looks to Day When Supply Will Be Exhausted in U. S.

(By United Press)

PITTSBURGH—There is a little scientific group in Pittsburgh which is looking ahead to the days when the nation's oil supply will be dangerously depleted or actually exhausted.

That is a vital question to this country's 120,000,000 inhabitants because these men—they man the U. S. Bureau of Mines laboratory here—figure that the current oil supply of approximately 13,000,000,000 barrels will be exhausted in about 10 years.

With this in mind, Dr. H. H. Storch, supervising chemist and his staff, have built a small plant for the changing of soft coal into oil. This is done through process called hydrogenation of coal because the coal is combined with hydrogen to transform it into oil. It is the only such plant in the United States.

The importance these men attach to this process is seen in the fact that they keep a day-to-day watch on its performance. They work in three eight-hour shifts, for the plant operates continuously.

Using 100 pounds of soft coal, the plant products 70 to 75 pounds of good light oil daily. From this oil, through a highly-complicated process that requires pressure of 3,000 pounds per square inch and temperatures of 850 degrees Fahrenheit, about 60 pounds of gasoline can be obtained.

Dr. Storch believes that unless a less expensive way of obtaining the oil is found, gasoline produced by such a process would cost around 50 cents a gallon. He predicts that the day when the nation may have to face such a problem is not far off. He and his assistant, Dr. L. L. Hirst, are hard at work at present on the problem of reducing the cost of production.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, weak and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Ohio Voters Repudiate New Deal.

ELECTION of Robert A. Taft as United States senator from Ohio marked a clear-cut repudiation of President Roosevelt's New Deal policies by a majority of voters in this state.

Similar victories of anti-New Deal candidates in a number of other states evidence a sweeping reversal of public opinion since two years ago when President Roosevelt piled up tremendous majorities all over the country.

Taft's defeat of Senator Robert J. Bulkley, who received the full strength of administration support, was especially impressive, being an apparent return to the traditional Republicanism of the Buckeye state, which has not been greatly in evidence in recent years.

The campaign of Senator Bulkley for re-election was based on his New Deal record and his defense of Roosevelt policies, while that of Taft hinged on pledges of support of measures looking toward drastic changes in present governmental policies and practices.

With the election of Taft as senator there came also the choice of John W. Bricker to succeed Martin L. Davey as governor of Ohio, and a general swing to support of Republicans for all state offices, coupled with material increase in the Republican delegation in congress from this state.

Bricker's election as governor follows his defeat of two years ago, when Davey was re-elected in the wave of Roosevelt support that marked the 1936 results. This is the first time since 1928 that a Republican governor has been elected in Ohio and Democrats have ruled the executive office in Columbus 24 of the past 30 years.

Ousting of Daveyism was the chief issue in the Ohio gubernatorial contest and a majority of voters decided that this could be most assuredly done by election of Bricker rather than Sawyer, who had also promised a clean-up of state departments.

Trend toward Republican voting was definitely noted in this Seventeenth congressional district, where Democratic Congressman William A. Ashbrook was returned to that post by a decreased majority in a contest in which his Republican opponent, Walter B. Woodward, campaigned in support of the Townsend pension plan.

In the state senate, Richland county will be represented by P. H. Rogers, Republican, of Lorain county, now serving in his fifth term in the legislature.

Richland county's only contests, for member of the legislature and for county commissioner, resulted in re-election of Ralph C. Lutz to the legislative seat and C. L. Mitchell as commissioner, these, with Congressman Ashbrook, being the only Democratic victories of the day, insofar as this county participated.

Approve Half Mill Tax Levy.

FUNDS sufficient to provide care and treatment for Richland county tubercular patients is assured by passage of the one-half mill special tax levy at yesterday's election.

This special levy will continue in effect for five years, extending through 1943, by which time this county will have had time to plan and finance the construction of a suitable tuberculosis sanitarium, if public interest in this subject continues to increase to the extent of sanctioning such a project.

Passage of the half mill levy, by a large majority, reflects creditably on voters of this county in placing health and lives above money consideration, even in a period when the burden of taxation is already unreasonably high.

The board of county commissioners have been doing the best that has been possible in meeting the cost of treatment and sanitarium care for persons afflicted with tuberculosis but have been seriously handicapped by shortage of funds for this purpose. This additional money will serve to relieve what had become a serious situation.

Voters Favor Parks Commission.

A MAJORITY of Mansfield voters yesterday expressed approval of the proposal to establish a board of park commissioners to supervise the operation and improvement of this city's public parks system.

Now that this change is to be made it is important that the intent thereof shall be carried out in the selection of representative citizens, interested in park development and willing to give of time and effort without compensation, as members of this commission.

The primary purpose of this change, as it has been presented by its proponents, is to remove the direction of Mansfield's parks system from the uncertainties of partisan politics and to assure a continuous program of upkeep and betterment.

Endorsed by various park associations, garden clubs and civic groups, and now sanctioned by voters, steps toward early operation of the commission plan will be awaited with much interest.

Aspirations of Schoolboys.

SMALL BOYS used to want to be firemen, motormen or candy store owners. Their idols were representatives of the first two groups. An insatiable sweet tooth compelled the third choice.

The point of view has changed with changing times. Two educators at Northwestern university conducted a questionnaire for grammar school children which showed that today's boys long to become aviators, engineers, athletes, doctors, or cowboys.

What boys of grammar school age want to be and what they finally become are usually quite different. It is only occasionally that a child shows a marked interest which he follows throughout his education and into his working life. Sometimes, unfortunately, parents and teachers do not recognize an existing bent and force a child to follow a line of their own choosing, with disastrous results.

Progressive education, at its best, should help a child discover and develop his specific talents and bring his plans to fruition.

It is interesting to note that Kentucky's 10-year-old bride seems to be just as dumb as she's ever likely to be.

It is disillusioning to discover that, after all, a favorable majority is apparently unable to abolish winter.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Anyone hopeful (or fearful) that tipping would be ended by the wage-hour act can abandon the idea. The act doesn't seem to reach into the zone of the tip-gathering help unless a person spends his time mostly riding on trains or getting on and off them.

The act doesn't apply to employes working for outfits "the greater part of whose selling or servicing is in intrastate commerce." That exempts bell boys in hotels, elevator operators, waiters in cafes and even hat check girls.

At the time we are writing this the case hasn't been decided as to whether messenger boys are in interstate commerce enough to come under the act. But we asked one of Western Union's brightest and best and he said his tips didn't amount to more than a dollar a month. That is a fairly small rate of tipping.

About Porters, Redcaps.

THE ones who do come under the act are pullman porters, dining car waiters and redcaps in railroad stations. At least the wage-hour administration is working on this basis and seems to have the railroads agreeing to that much. Waiters and pullman porters serving pillows and pork chops between Paducah and Chicago obviously are in interstate commerce.

As to redcaps, they probably never cross a state line unless it runs through the railroad station. Nor do they manufacture stuff for commerce, but the wage-hour administration has found they are a part of the business of getting people and their bags along the channels of trade.

The only matter left in doubt at this point is just how to determine the wages of these people. The railroads and station operators have suggested that if a redcap or waiter collects $11 a week in tips, he is already getting 25 cents an hour for a 44-hour week as prescribed by the act. The wage-hour administration has not (at this point) accepted that idea.

We keep saying "at this point" because the act is being defined so fast the situation may be changed before we can get this thing out of the typewriter.

Knows How to Duck.

SOMEONE told Administrator Elmer Andrews that a Washington attorney was promoting himself as "evasion counsel" to help employers duck the wage-hour act. Andrews quipped back: "Guess we'll have to hire him. We could use him at press conferences."

The measure does seem to reach into queer places, some that congress probably never thought about. Take the case of a watchman at a small West Virginia factory. He wrote to Andrews to explain how the act cost him his job. He was getting $15 a week and a bed in the factory on condition that he would do the night watching seven nights a week. That meant his pay was far less than 25 cents an hour and for more than 44 hours a week. His boss offered to make his pay "officially" enough to meet the requirements but privately he would have to kick back part of it.

Just how that arrangement would have worked out was never determined because a competitor came along and offered to do the watching just for use of the bed.

Hitler To Seek Trade Agreement

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Herr Hitler's economics minister, Walther Funk, who is scheduled to visit the United States soon to try for a German-American trade agreement, may as well save time and steamship fare by not coming.

Secretary of State Hull, with whom he will have to negotiate, is all in favor of international trade pacts, but not the kind of pacts that Hitler and Funk favor.

He made this very clear in his speech before the National Foreign Trade Convention in New York a few evenings ago. The Nazi notion of a trade treaty between two countries is a dicker by which they make certain concessions to one another, but to the disadvantage, if possible, of other countries' trade with either of them—a bilateral deal, as diplomats call it.

Secretary Hull wants his trade bargains to be as internationally all-inclusive as can be managed. By no means is he opposed to the inclusion of Germany, but not to the exclusion of any other nationality. He thinks the latter kind of a treaty would be injurious to Germany, but that isn't his business. What he does know is that it would be injurious to the United States.

Aimed At Europe.

The secretary said all this, in effect, specifically to the National Foreign Trade Convention, but undoubtedly he intended the fuehrer and Herr Funk to overhear him It's a safe bet that they did, too. Maybe Herr Funk won't come, on the strength of it. If he does, it goes almost without saying that he'll be most politely treated, superficially, but he'll get a punch on the nose essentially.

Secretary Hull implied a lot more than he said.

He referred to "dictatorships," "autarchies' 'and "totalitarianism." In a narrow sense, he so expressed himself as to appear to mean trade dictatorships, but it was extremely obvious that he had in mind political dictatorships also, like Germany and Italy of course, and Japan probably.

He likewise stressed the "loss of liberty." Trade liberty alone? I'd think he hinted at the loss of all sorts of liberty, though it wouldn't have been diplomatic to put it thus.

Our army and navy expansion programs likewise are more than suggestive of our estimate of the overseas growth of absolutism and the decline of democracy. They may seem like military activities, but they have the State Department's apprehensions back of them.

Plenty of attempts have been made to induce the White House and the State Department to voice opposition to German and Italian persecution of the Jews and to both countries' evident wish to muzzle the Catholics. Rather naturally there's an official disinclination to say much on these subjects. No one questions that, personally, enlightened men like President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull are horribly shocked by these outrages. Yet it isn't surprising that they hesitate to go formally on record concerning them.

We have, indeed, said something semi-officially in behalf of the Jews in Palestine. However, that's outside our sphere of influence. There really isn't anything we can do about it—not unless we choose to mix into world affairs in a larger scale than public opinion promises to justify at present.

Up to Date Isolationists.

It's funny.

This country is isolationist up to date. It doesn't want to have anything to do with overseas quarrels. It had its lesson in the last World war, and is cuckoo on the subject of keeping out of the next one.

Secretary Hull is one of our best keep-outers. Yet he's our very best internationalist.

It will be interesting to see him negotiate with Herr Funk, whose views are as different from Hull's as North is from South. And, of course, as a matter of form, they'll have to negotiate amicably. At least, it will appear so.

Timely Editorial

Spelling Bees Are Back.

The old-time spelling bee, which for many years was consigned to that space in the attic just behind the trunkful of hoopskirts, has been revived and refurbished. Spelling bees are the style these days.

The radio offers numerous spelling bees, question bees, music bees and any other number of contests designed to make the competitors stir up memories and precepts.

Tune in on the national networks these days and you're likely to hear a team of Vassar girls and of Amherst boys tangling over the vicissitudes of "zephyr" and a "heifer." And the next week you may hear the copy desk of a metropolitan newspaper clashing with the rewriters of a rival journal over the correct make-up of "occurrence" and "occasional."

Such battles are emphatically to be encouraged, because good spellers do not exactly overcrowd any field they enter. Many of the older teachers lament that, with all of the new and "progressive" methods of instruction, youngsters today spell no better than their forbears—if they can be said to spell as well.—Milwaukee Journal.

Health Advice

Kidneys Have Complex Job.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE KIDNEYS have a very rich blood supply. Every drop of blood in the body passes through them every few minutes. It has been estimated that 600 quarts of blood a day pass through them (some say 1,000 to 1,500 quarts). There is a total of six quarts of blood in the body, so even at the lowest estimate all the blood goes through the kidneys 100 times a day.

This blood carries with it at all the poisons and by-products of the body's activity and the kidney removes a number of these. It does so largely in little tufts of blood vessels that branch out from the kidney arteries like bunches of grapes on the vine. These tufts are called glomeruli.

The glomeruli are coiled in order to expose as much surface area as possible to the blood, just as a radiator is coiled so as to expose as much heating surface in a small space. It has been estimated that there are 4,500,000 glomeruli in each kidney, and that if their surface area were spread out, it would be equivalent to 67 square feet, the surface area of a small room.

We must consider then that the blood spreads out in a thin film, 67 feet square, over a surface especially designed to remove certain substances from it. To facilitate this, the blood moves very slowly in the kidney glomeruli, at the rate of about 18 inches an hour.

Each Has Tubule.

From each glomerulus a fine tubule extends, coils on itself and finally empties into the pelvis of the kidney, whence the urine flows down the ureters into the bladder. These tubules also have a function in body excretion, and they, too, are coiled in order to obtain the maximum surface in the minimum space. It has been estimated that if the kidney tubules were all stretched out they would form a channel 280 miles long. And all this in the space of organs about the size of your two closed fists.

The glomerulus and kidney tubule form a unit, as we have said, for the removal of certain waste products from the blood, and these flow off in the form of urine.

Like Factory Track.

If we could use our imagination again, we might conceive of this long tubule as being like a track, such as you see in a motor factory, with busy workers on each side, each doing his bit to build up, not an automobile this time, but a complete drop of urine. The workers are the kidney cells, each trained to do his special job.

The cells in the glomerulus remove water, and also the waste products of nitrogen metabolism—urea, uric acid, creatinine, creatin, etc. But the glomerulur cells are over-busy and remove useful substances also—sugar, salts and amino-acids — and some of the workers down below in the tubules have to correct this and put back water and the food products into the blood stream.

What happens when these workers become sick and the mechanism goes wild, we will discuss in another article.

Words of the Wise

A Farmer's Diary

From the Big Barn Floor.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I HAPPENED along at noon where twelve farmers from the neighborhood were husking corn with a machine and tractor. A wagon half loaded with yellow corn was standing on the barn floor. I saw a a large heap of shredded fodder on the loft above. I went nearer, and caught the fragrance of the new-husked corn and the sweetish odor of the torn stalks.

The men came out, after their meal, and sat down to rest for a few moments. A tall fellow in a blue blouse said, "I wonder what the price of corn and wheat will be next year? The penalty for being a farmer now is starvation for a renter, and bankruptcy for an owner."

"Why can't we work it like the farmers in Ioway?" suggested another.

"How's that?"

"Why, didn't you hear it? The government loaned them 50 cents a bushel on corn last year and sealed the cribs. This year it loaned them up to 60 cents. They default and Uncle Sam owns the corn. Then they take their loan of this year and buy corn at the home elevator for 35 cents. They're makin' money, ain't they?"

"If you and I did like the government, we'd both know we was crazy. Just like that notion of havin' us kill our hogs and cattle, until only them that didn't need the meat could afford to buy it."

"Looks to me," another ventured, "that most everybody's suffered since that time. The Dixie farmers plowed down their cotton, and we plowed down our corn and wheat—and then the foreign nations got our markets. I say it didn't work, it just didn't work!"

"We can think as well as they," suggested a broader minded man, of middle age. "But no political party can change the hearts and morals of a nation. Pure, narrow-minded selfishness is the start of trickery and injustice. If you ask me, we need a nation-wide drive to make fair play popular. If we'd use our schools and pulpits and radios for that . . ."

"You slobbered a bibful, brother," said the wag of the crowd. "But who's agoin' to start it?"

Success and Failure Have Common Root.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU'RE SORE because you've failed—. Or contemptuous because the Other Fellow has?

And you're probably wondering how either of you could have been such a fool . . . done such an asinine or reckless thing—

For that's how you see failure, isn't it? As something apart from normal life . . . something wrong and wasted—

But that isn't so. Failure isn't a haywire accident, opposed to and apart from our healthy progress.

To the contrary—

FAILURE AND SUCCESS HAVE A COMMON ROOT!

A MISTAKE SPRINGS FROM THE SAME SOURCE AS A MASTERSTROKE!

What lies behind any triumph, great or small? What precedes a victory? Think back to any successful act in your own life—First, your INTEREST was aroused, wasn't it?—and your COURIOSITY. You WANTED something, something beyond the common level of your daily performance. Then you made up your mind to have it—you DETERMINED to get it. So you went ahead—working hard, taking chances—inspired and sustained by the thought that you were going to Do Something Big. And at last you succeeded—

Curiosity . . . Interest . . . Desire . . . Determination . . . Risk . . . Effort . . . Achievement—these are the steps by which we arrive at Success—

YET THEY ARE ALSO THE STEPS BY WHICH WE ARRIVE AT OUR BLEAKEST, BLACKEST BLUNDERS!

Stop and think of any tragic muddle in your own life. You didn't expect to end in that muddle. You were striving for quite a different end . . . for a climax which should lift you out of your dreary rut. You were as curious and eager as any Columbus . . . as determined and reckless as any Caesar. . . .

But then something went wrong . . . perhaps physically . . . perhaps mentally or morally. Your body may have betrayed you—gone lazy when you most needed to be energetic. Your mind may have gone back on you—become indifferent when it should have been most keen. Or, worst of all, your spirit may have skidded . . . taken a disastrous moral risk . . . told you that "the means justifies the end" and compromised with dishonor in the hope of ultimate glory. Whatever the reason, you slipped — skidded — ended in failure—

YET—SAVE FOR THAT SLIP—YOU FOLLOWED THE SAME URGE WHICH LED ANOTHER MAN TO SUCCESS. You, too, were curious and eager. You, too, dreamed—desired—AND DARED. But where he conquered—you collapsed.

So what?

SO THINK OF THESE FACTS BEFORE YOU CONDEMN A FLOP FOR HIS FAILURE!

Don't judge him, or yourself, by superficial RESULTS . . . probe deep into the root of the fiasco. See how close it lies to triumph and be tolerant to your fellow man, or hopeful for yourself, accordingly.

"But one can't excuse all botches as easily as that!" you protest. "Surely, many a mess is due to deliberate laziness, stupidity, indifference or downright dishonesty!"

I doubt it. It may seem so on the surface. But the human spirit is a strange and tangled thing. NO SANE SOUL EVER WANTED TO FAIL. TO THE CONTRARY, EVERY NORMAL PERSON DEFINITELY WISHES TO ATTAIN POWER AND ACHIEVE SUCCESS. . . .

WE ALL WANT TO BE BIG SHOTS!

But things happen to us. One man's grip is strengthened where another's grip is weakened by inheritance, environment or outward circumstance. One spirit is nourished where another goes half starved. One appears a HAPPY WARRIOR where another seems a LAZY SLOB. But deep in every heart lies the tap-root that leads home to—GOD.

Remember that tap-root when you start to beat your breast in discouragement . . . or lift a stone in contempt.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—I am not a man for prolonged farewells. When the hour of parting comes I like to take it on the run. I want to be reaching for my hat when the good-bys are mumbled, for there is no sense in dawdling over a hand in which you are not genuinely interested, and it distresses you too much when you are being separated from loving friends.

Most of New York hold a different view than this. It must. At least it certainly goes in for bon voyages in a big way. I have seen mothers and daughters, husbands and wives, lovers and sweethearts stuff themselves into the small room of a ship and agonize for hours before the all-ashore bell is rung.

I have seen people so genuinely moved by emotion that speech was impossible, and yet they would not or could not tear themselves away. Why should this be? The answer is that, without knowing it, some people get a boot out of suffering. I do not infer that their tears aren't sincere; they are as honest as the dews from heaven. But they hang on to the last second, racked by sobs, frequently incoherent in their final protestations of love and devotion.

ON A recent midnight I had occasion to take in a sailing and I arrived at my destination just in time to hear a mother scream: "Oh, my baby, my darling baby boy!" Then she fainted. The baby, I was able to ascertain shortly after that, was a 33-year-old six-footer with a happy grin on his face and a bright-eyed bride on his arm. They were off for a European honeymoon, but mother was ready for a sanitarium.

My pal who was billeted in the next stateroom had been enjoying himself, he said, for three hours. They had been there since 9 o'clock, weeping themselves into a state of insensibility.

AND then again yesterday I went down to the train to say goodby to a friend. She was leaving on the 20th Century limited, heading for Chicago, 6 p. m. Other friends of the departing one arrived by twos and threes until there was quite a happy gathering.

Then the gates opened and we all piled aboard the car. The bags were tossed into the drawing room. Everybody was excited, trying to say something. The moment we were all in the room that atmosphere of sadness which attends all farewells began to manifest itself. So I mumbled a hurried goodby and broke for the tramway. I sat there alone 15 minutes, until the train began to move.

The others came piling off then, but I have never seen so desolate or forlorn a group. There were many unashamed tears. One girl was seized by such a paroxysm of sobs that she could not speak. We stood in stunned silence, and then broke up into twos and threes. I drifted on out into Vanderbilt avenue. As I walked along the street, it seemed to me that I had never seen the stars so sad.

And so I want no part of long and enduring au revoirs. To me the extra dance is not worth the fiddle. When it is time to separate I want to say, "So long, Joe." and then get out of there. At least you aren't left in such a daze that you can't see the taxicabs coming at you when you cross the street.

SCHOOL BONDS BEATEN AGAIN

Union Rural District Defeats $75,900 Issue Second Time by 33-Vote Margin.

For the second time in two months, voters in Weller and Franklin townships, north of Mansfield, yesterday defeated a $75,000 school bond issue, proposed for the construction of a new Union rural school building. The proposal was defeated by 22 votes at a special election in September.

Yesterday, a total of 434 votes were cast for, and 285 against the bond issue. It failed by 33 votes to obtain the 65 per cent majority needed to pass. The issue received only a 60 per cent majority.

The complete unofficial vote of the two townships was, Weller, 222 for, and 181 against; Franklin, 212 for, and 104 against.

The special issue called for the purchasing of a school site, building, furnishing and equiping a new fireproof school building in the Union district, and a levy of taxes be made outside of the ten mill limitation, estimated to average 2.34 mills per year for a period of 20 years.

The approximate cost of the proposed project was estimated at $138,000. Of this amount the federal government would give the district 45 per cent or $62,100, and the Union district would furnish the remaining 55 per cent or $75,900.

LIQUOR ONLY FOR BURGLAR

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(U.P.)—Money apparently meant nothing to the burglar who tore the door from a liquor store, but who failed to disturb an unlocked cash register and a quarter-bank on the counter. Gone, however, was $40 worth of choice Bourbon and Scotch.

Taft Victory Puts Presidential Family Back In Washington Again

Wiseacres First Classed Him Among Those With 'No Chance'

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Tall, gangling Robert A. Taft to whom none of the political wiseacres conceded a chance when he started the long campaign grind last January is the new U. S. senator-elect from Ohio today.

When he takes his seat in the senate chamber next January he will take with him the prestige of a family long prominent in Ohio and national politics and a newly won reputation as a resourceful politician in his own right. His unseating of Sen. Robert J Bulkley was the climax of a campaign that began inauspiciously and against the advice of some of Taft's closest friends who thought his inability to slap backs would make him a sorry figure on the stump. The first surprise was his smashing victory over Judge Arthur H. Day for the nomination. But more startling still and more important nationally was his victory over the New Deal in Ohio as represented by Senator Bulkley, one of its trusted legislative commanders.

He succeeded by fighting one of the most dogged but well-planned campaigns in the history of Ohio politics. He left no corner of the state unvisited and wherever he went he hit straight at the Roosevelt policies. One by one he attacked major points of the administration record and specifically set forth his alternative views. The result was an ever deepening impression on the voters as reflected in their verdict at the polls. He can also take credit for reviving the political debate in Ohio.

Next U. S. Senator From Ohio.

His election in a pivotal state was important enough in itself and puts him in the forefront of new Republican leaders. The name Taft makes him doubly impressive and the record of this elder son of the late President and Chief Justice William Howard Taft in the upper house of congress may make him an outstanding national figure in 1940.

After a lapse of 25 years the Taft and Roosevelt names are again both powerful politically. Once the Roosevelt-Taft alliance dominated Republicanism, to be followed by a personal rift that split the party. This time a Roosevelt and a Taft are in opposing parties and on opposite sides of great questions. It may be that they will again become the chief exponents of rival policies. A curious quirk of the 1938 campaign was that Alice Longworth Roosevelt, daughter of "T. R." who broke with Robert Taft's father for the Bull Moose fight, worked this year for the younger Taft against a Democratic Roosevelt.

New Senator's Victory Shattering Blow for New Deal Rule

Now 49, Taft has built an enviable reputation as a lawyer with already considerable experience in local and state politics. He served three consecutive terms in the house of representatives and was speaker of the lower chamber for one biennium, later going to the state senate for one term. His legislative interest was in taxation and he drafted the present intangible tax laws and was a leader in the movement for home rule in local taxation.

For several years he was chairman of the Hamilton county Republican organization and in 1936 was Ohio's "favorite son" for the Republican presidential nomination. His name was never formally placed in nomination because of the quick swing to Alfred M. Landon to whom the state delegation was actually pledged.

Taft's intellectual ability has been admitted by both friend and foe and was curiously enough one of the reasons some of his friends sought to keep him out of the senate race this year. They thought he had too little popular appeal. He has been a leader of the Ohio bar and his scholastic record early gave evidence of his talents. At Yale he was a leader of his class, and topped his fellows at Harvard Law school. In 1913 he scored the highest grade among applicants for admission to practice law in the state.

He was born in Cincinnati Sept. 8, 1889, and attended public and private schools before entering Yale. He was in college most of his father's term as president. Taft has two generations of public service in his family behind him, for his grandfather was secretary of war under President Grant, later serving as attorney general, and minister to Austria and Russia.

When the World war drew America in, Taft twice sought to enlist, but was rejected for bad eyesight. He then entered civilian war work, serving as assistant counsel for the U. S. Food administration and later as counsel for the American relief commission abroad.

In 1914 he married Martha W. Bowers, daughter of Lloyd Bowers, solicitor general of the United States under President Taft. Mrs. Taft has attracted attention during this campaign for the able manner in which she "stumped" the state for her husband. He recently admitted that she "is a little better campaigner than I am."

The Tafts live with their four sons at "Skylands," a spacious estate on Indian Hill overlooking eastern Cincinnati.

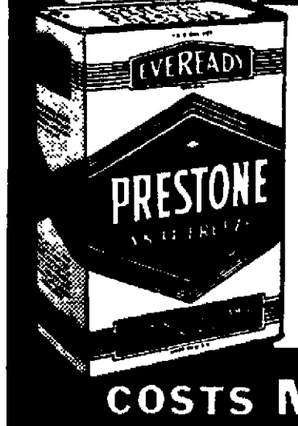
Now is the Time to Figure the WHOLE COST of GUARANTEED All-Winter Protection against BOIL-AWAY, FREEZE-UP and RUST

Find Your Car Here

$2.95 A GALLON



COLD WAVE COMING!

Freezing temperatures within twenty-four hours, says Weather Man

You've got to do something about your car at once... one of two things:

1. Take a chance with ordinary boil-away anti-freeze that will need replacement as the weather see-saws back and forth and motor heat brings the radiator solution above its boiling point.

2. Give your car the proper protection from the beginning and free yourself from worry and uncertainty all winter long.

Better be sure, better be happy, better be thrifty with "Eveready" "Prestone" anti-freeze. It's guaranteed in writing.

FIND YOUR CAR ON THIS CHART

IMPORTANT! The price per gallon of an anti-freeze means nothing unless you know how many gallons you will need during the entire winter. You can't get that information on a boil-away anti-freeze. But you can get it for "Prestone" anti-freeze... and here it is. See how reasonably you can get two-way protection all winter long against both freeze-up and rust formations with one shot of "Prestone" anti-freeze—one shot because it won't boil off, no matter how warm the weather gets between the cold snaps. If your car isn't on this chart, your dealer has a chart showing all cars; and amounts needed for temperatures to 60° below zero.

Find your car and read from left to right. The first figure shows the protection you get with one gallon of "Eveready" "Prestone" anti-freeze in the cooling system; the second with one and a half gallons—and so on. "+" means above zero. "—" means below zero. If your car has a hot water heater, add ½ gallon to the quantity called for.

RICHLAND HOPS ON BANDWAGON

Gives Bricker and Taft Edge in Voting, Favors Rest of State G. O. P. Ticket.

voting as being largely responsible for the complete Republican victory.

Not only did Taft and Bricker win in Richland county, but they carried with them to Richland majorities all the Republican candidates for state posts, with one exception.

The one exception was Walter B. Woodward, Republican-Townsend candidate, for 17th district congress. He lost Richland county by a slim margin to William A Ashbrook, veteran Democratic incumbent, and also lost the race in the district, although he carried three of the six counties in the 17th Ohio.

Down in the county contests the Democrats managed to score. Ralph C. Lutz, Lexington lumber dealer defeated Harry H. Maxwell of Mansfield for state representative, and C. H. Mitchell, Democrat, was re-elected county commissioner over his Republican opponent, John C. Friday, himself a farmer commissioner.

But in the state contests, the Republicans had a field day, and the Richland county result was the exact counterpart of the final result in the state.

Sawyer Runs Well.

Sawyer, however, made a valiant race of it in the city of Mansfield, and ran far ahead of any other Democrat on the state ticket, with the exception of the victorious Ashbrook. Both Sawyer and Bricker carried three wards, although Bricker carried 27 of the city's 50 precincts. The First, Second and Third wards, always Republican strongholds in Mansfield, went to Bricker. The Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards went to Sawyer.

But the balance of power lay with the first three wards, and Bricker slipped out of the city with a slight lead. In the rural sections, where Bricker was admittedly the stronger, Sawyer lost ground. That was true of the entire state as well as of Richland county.

Riding the victory bandwagon with Bricker and Taft in the state as well as in Richland county, were Paul M. Herbert, who led Democratic James Metzenbaum for lieutenant governor, 12,143 to 10,061; Earl Griffith of Mt. Gilead, for secretary of state, who held a slim edge over William J. Kennedy, incumbent Democrat, 11,496 to 11,289; Don H. Ebright, who led incumbent Clarence H. Knisely for treasurer of state, 11,453 to 11,228.

In one lone contest Richland county failed to ride the bandwagon. That was in the congress-at-large race, in which two were to be elected. Richland county voted for George H. Bender, Republican, and John McSweeney, Democrat. However, in the final state count, McSweeney was defeated by L. L. Marshall, Republican.

The Richland county vote was Bender 11,600, McSweeney 11,100, Marshall 10,498, and Stephen M. Young 10,237.

Judicial Ticket Vote.

Richland county gave Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court a margin. He polled 10,138 in his quest for re-election against his Republican opponent from Akron, Walter B. Wanamaker, who garnered 7,911 ballots. Weygandt won the race.

For justices of the supreme court, Richland county rolled along with the rest of the state, favoring Edward S. Matthias of Van Wert and William L. Hart of Alliance, for the long terms. Matthias polled 9,294 as against 7,948 by his Democratic opponent R. M. Winegardner. Hart received 10,641 votes, while his opponent, Robert N. Gorman, incumbent, polled 6,251.

G. K. Allen of Cleveland received 7,705 votes to lead William C. Dixon, another Clevelander and Ohio's relief director, for the short term. Dixon received 7,033.

For judge of the court of appeals Charles W. Montgomery, with 11,519, led over Thomas P. Jones, Canton attorney, who had 5,398 votes. Final results on this contest, however, were not available.

Strong opposition to a proposal for amending the state constitution to provide for the appointment of judges was also expressed by the voters of Richland county, as well as by the rest of the state.

The proposal which received 5,792 favorable votes was beaten by a majority of nearly 3 to 1 in the county. A total of 13,870 negative votes was cast.

BR-R! IT'S COLD

Mercury Skids to 25 as City Gets Taste of Winter.

Mansfield was still shivering today under the first real breath of Old Man Winter who swept over this area yesterday and last night sending the temperature down to 25 degrees.

Despite a rising temperature today, and possibly tomorrow, warning that another cold blast is on the way was issued today by the weather bureau. There will be fair weather tomorrow, with rains and lower temperatures for Friday.

The amazing drop in temperature—it was 74 Monday noon and 25 last night—which was 49 degrees in 36 hours, sent motorists scurrying to filling stations for anti-freeze solutions, and individuals began digging out winter clothing.

Despite the warm sun, thermometers stood at only 39 this noon, seven degrees above freezing.

LOSES DRIVING RIGHTS FOR YEAR

Mansfield Autoist Fined $75 On Intoxication Charge.

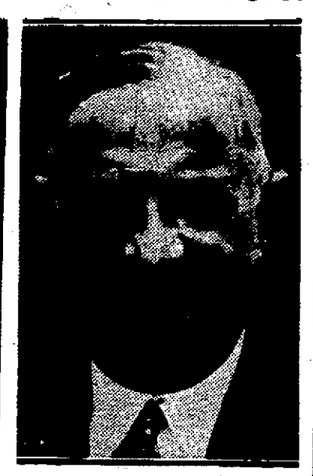
John Crider, 33, of 482 Sherman place, was fined $75 and costs and his driving rights revoked for one year in municipal court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Crider was arrested yesterday on West Fourth street following a collision with a tractor and trailer driven by Eli Mohler, Van Wert.

John H. Banks, 24, of Lucas, pleading guilty to a charge of careless and reckless driving, was fined $15 and costs. Banks was arrested on U. S. route 30S, west of Mansfield Monday by State Highway Patrolman C. W. Cale.

New Dealers Win In New York

GOV. HERBERT LEHMAN



SEN. ROBERT WAGNER

Two stalwart New Dealers were victors in New York election contests yesterday. In a race that attracted nation-wide attention, Governor Lehman defeated his youthful Republican opponent, Thomas E. Dewey, the racket-buster, in a nip-and-tuck battle. Senator Robert Wagner, author of many New Deal laws, defeated John Lord O'Brian. Both Lehman and Wagner had the active backing of President Roosevelt.

PENNSYLVANIA RIDES BRISKLY INTO CAMP OF REPUBLICANS

(By International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Virtually complete returns today transformed Pennsylvania's swing back into the Republican column in yesterday's election into a minor landslide.

U. S. Senator James J. Davis retained his seat in the senate by a majority of 400,000 votes over Gov. George H. Earle, the Pennsylvania New Dealer who sought to oust him.

Judge Arthur H. James of the superior court won the governorship back for the Republicans by a majority of 125,000 over Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh lawyer nominated by the Democrats.

Unofficial returns from 7,599 of the state's 8,054 precincts gave:

For U. S. senator: Davis, 1,966,752; Earle, 1,588,550.

For governor: James, 1,752,524; Jones, 1,627,935.

Both Governor Earle and Jones conceded defeat early this morning.

GOP candidates for lieutenant-governor and secretary of internal affairs rode the victory tide with James and Davis.

At the same time, Pennsylvania's Republican representation in the national house of representatives appeared to have increased by at least six seats and possibly more as congressional returns trickled in from the 34 districts.

Incomplete returns showed a net gain of 37 representatives for the GOP. In all, 208 places were at stake.

HUNTS TRACE OF ANCIENT RACE

Prospector Carries Ultra-Violet Ray Instrument.

LOVELOCK, Nev. — (AP) — A will 'o the wisp prospector, who prowls over the mountains at night in search of tungsten ore, has set old timers talking.

But when you catch up with him there's nothing very mysterious about his activity—he's just a former Stanford engineering student putting science to use in prospecting.

John Heizer carries an ultra-violet ray apparatus with him, says that tungsten ore is fluorescent and will glow when the ray falls on it. Barren rock gives no reaction.

He says the ray has been used with good results in the big Nevada-Massachusetts tungsten mine, of which his father is manager.

Among the archaeological remains she will investigate are two rows of ancient stone slabs that long has puzzled scientists.

Mitchell Noses Out Friday for Commissioner, Lutz Wins Third Term.

of county officials from two to four years.

The race between Mitchell and Friday was close all the way with Friday leading by a small margin several times during the tabulation.

Lutz went into an early lead over Maxwell, and was ahead of the Republican candidate throughout the evening but his lead often dwindled to 200 votes or less.

In winning, Lutz carried 26 of the 50 precincts in Mansfield and only 12 of the 40 outside the city. The vote was tied at 142 in precinct L of the First ward, Mansfield.

Mitchell carried 25, or half of the city's precincts and 14 in the county. One rural precinct produced a tie vote for commissioner, with Mitchell and Friday receiving 156 votes in precinct A in Troy township.

A margin of 456 votes in Mansfield for Lutz was almost offset by heavy Republican majorities in Shelby where Maxwell had a 295 vote lead over Lutz.

Mitchell had only a 154-vote margin over Friday in Mansfield, but he gained as returns from rural areas came in. Shelby gave Friday 247 more votes than Mitchell.

Friday's defeat was his second in attempts to stage comebacks after being defeated for commissioner in the Democratic landslide of 1932. He had served one term as commissioner.

Mitchell is serving his first term as commissioner and is chairman of the board.

Both Lutz and Maxwell are from Lexington where Lutz is a lumber dealer. Lutz will begin his third term in January.

Steal Tombstone From Grave of Dutch Pioneer

EARLTON, N. Y. — (INS) — Vandals, antique collectors or plain ordinary burglars have carried off the tombstone from the grave of Guert Roosa, a noted Dutch pioneer and the first settler in the Earlton community of the Hudson Valley.

When the Historical Sites Committee of the Earlton Neighborhood Civic association visited Roosa's grave to clean it up and have a marker placed on the nearby highway, they found the stone missing. The nearby graves of Roosa's wife and son were intact.

Roosa died in 1780 and his grave lies on the side of Patic mountain in Earlton.

ship, Sharon township, and precinct B of Worthington township.

The funds derived from the levy are to be used for the care of tuberculosis patients in the county who in order to respond to treatment must be confined in a sanatorium.

In past years the county commissioners have provided limited funds for the care of these patients, but on Oct. 1 their allocation for this year already was exhausted and the patients, some of whom had to be brought home, were left without the proper care.

The levy which was proposed by the county commissioners as a solution to the dilemma, was approved by the Richland County Medical association and the Richland County Tuberculosis association which sponsors the annual health seal sale, the proceeds of which are used to maintain a clinic for detecting suspicious cases of the dreaded disease.

JUST A MERE JAUNT

NEW YORK —(AP)— Week-end jaunts from New York to Paris, London, Berlin, or Moscow will be commonplace within five years, says Eddie Rickenbacker, World war ace. He said craft flying 300 miles an hour at altitudes of 20,000 to 30,000 feet would make such excursions possible.

Suggests Use of Light Beams to Talk With Mars

MIAMI, Fla. — (INS) — Conversation with theoretical inhabitants of the planet Mars by means of light beams is proposed by Prof. Hirsh Kankelwitz, scientist formerly on the faculty of the University of St. Petersburg, Russia.

He proposes the construction of a mirror five miles square on which beams of light forming characters of the sign language would be projected. Figuring that light travels at the rate of 11,160,000 miles a minute, Yankelwitz estimates that it would take about 3 minutes to reach Mars when it is closest to the earth and 22 minutes when it is farthest away. A character 5 miles high would show up in Mars half an inch high, he says.

There's another bridge—Confidence—that is strongly engineered to carry heavy loads. Confidence sailed our pioneer forefathers across the turbulent Atlantic. Confidence helped our grandfathers extend the stubborn frontier—and made ours the strongest and most abundant land on Earth today. Confidence is ready now to take America further still.

G. O. P. Cuts Swath In Democratic Congress Control

MAKE BIG GAIN IN HOUSE, WIN SENATE SEATS

Democrats Remain in Control Despite Losses, But Stiff Opposition Looms.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—A resurgent Republican party, hungry after eight successive years of defeat, broke into the political green pastures today and chased a great many of the New Dealers out.

The Democrats, it is true, retain control of both branches of congress, but by greatly reduced majorities, and they still retain most of the state governments. In that sense, and that sense only, they may be said to have "won" the off-year election.

In every other sense they lost it.

They lost eight seats in the senate, possibly ten, depending upon Iowa and Indiana; they lost sixty-odd seats in the house, and fourteen governorships, while taking only three from the Republicans, for a net gain of eleven.

Opposition Stronger.

The certain result will be to stiffen opposition to the New Deal and to President Roosevelt in the 76th congress which convenes on Jan. 3. By combining with recalcitrant and anti-New Deal Democrats, of whom there is a sizeable bloc in the house, the Republicans are in a strategic position to thwart legislation, if not to initiate it.

The New Deal drubbing stretched from coast to coast, extending from New England through the Great Lakes states, the grain belt, the mountain states and to the Pacific.

On the basis of late returns this forenoon, Democratic senators were unseated in Connecticut, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Oregon, while the Republicans re-elected their incumbents in Vermont, North Dakota and Pennsylvania.

The Republicans elected 14 new governors—in Rhode Island, Iowa, Massachusetts, Kansas, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, Idaho, Colorado, Ohio, Connecticut, Wyoming and Oregon, a convincing cross-section—that.

The Democrats were as dazed today over the results as the Republicans were in those successive years of 1932-34-36, when successive and sensational Democratic victories all but obliterated the G. O. P. as a formidable political force.

SIGNS RETURNED

200 Refinished Street Markers Ready for Installation.

The first of Mansfield's street signs which were sent back to the factory several weeks ago to be refinished were being erected at the various intersections in southwest Mansfield today.

The shipment of nearly 200 markers arrived here yesterday, all with a new coat of paint.

Superintendent of Street D. D. Orewiler had workmen on the job replacing the markers at their designated corners, and within a few days will begin removing other signs in the northwest section of the city.

The markers, purchased from the Lyle Signs Inc., Minneapolis, three years ago, are being refinished without cost other than freight charges, because the original paint failed to hold up.

REVIEWS CASES OF 176 INMATES

State Parole Board Convenes at Reformatory Today.

The cases of 176 inmates of the Ohio State Reformatory were to go before the Ohio board of parole for review as it convened at the institution here today.

The cases are all from the reformatory and do not include any inmates at the institution's honor camps, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said. Three members of the board are here for the session which opened this morning. They are H. W. Jewell of Delaware, chairman; Craig N. McBride, Hillsboro; and Bishop Reverdy C. Ransom, of Wilberforce. The other member of the board, Frank T. Sotak, Cleveland, is expected to arrive this afternoon.

HUFFMAN RITES THURSDAY

LOUDONVILLE—Funeral services for M. Daniel Huffman, 77, former justice of peace of Hanover township, who died Monday evening at his home here following a lingering illness, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the Methodist Episcopal church with Rev. F. A. Hinman officiating. The body will remain at the Huffman home until 12:30 p. m. when it will be taken to the church where it will lie in state until time of service. Burial will be in Loudonville cemetery.

Up and Down THE STREET

It doesn't take youngsters long to acclimate themselves to changes in the weather. Yesterday's initial snowfall wasn't more than a couple hours old before three youngsters were out on Cline avenue, all bundled up, with a sled looking for a place to coast. The same youngsters, the day before, were out roller skating, dressed in summer clothes.

Harl Smith and his nationally known orchestra will return to swanky Sun Valley lodge in Ketchum, Idaho, this winter, and Paul Bergner and Paul Bragg, Mansfield members of the orchestra, are glad of it. They think the Ketchum country is the finest spot in the world and believe it will soon rival Switzerland as a winter resort. The two Pauls made brief visits to their home town last week when the band played its annual engagement in Shelby. Smith, the leader, incidentally, hails from Willard.

A certificate of title for a 1914 Ford touring car, oldest automobile transferred in Richland county in several years, was issued yesterday by the county clerk of courts, Fred R. Zellner. The 24-year-old car was sold to Raymond Mayne, R. D. 1, Mansfield, by Rolley Uhlich, R. D. 8, Mansfield, and it cost more than a dollar for the transfer certificate, just the same as for a new 1939 model.

The city banks that "installed" those ritzy fountain desk pens are beginning to be a little discouraged. Just to make certain that no one would walk off with a pen, they were all anchored to the desk with small, but strong chains. Today the Citizens National bank found that one of the chains had been neatly clipped with clippers and one of the pens gone. If irate patrons who appreciate good pens at the bank should find the culprit, Mansfield probably would have a lynching.

Norman Wolfe, unopposed candidate for county auditor, got into the George Washington class yesterday when only two votes in the entire county were cast against him. Two voters wrote in names of other persons in the blank opposite Wolfe's name in the Republican column. Perhaps they, like the Colonial voters who opposed General Washington, had nothing "agin" Wolfe but merely hated to see him unanimously elected.

'WE'RE LICKED'

Even Republicans Surprised by Election, Sawyer Asserts.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Charles Sawyer, defeated Democratic candidate for governor, said today "We were thoroughly licked and there is no point in pretending we were not."

"I think everybody is surprised, including the Republicans," the Democratic national committeeman added. "I have not the slightest word of criticism of anybody because of this result. . . . I fought as hard as I knew how, and cleanly, and I have no regrets whatever."

Sawyer earlier dispatched a telegram congratulating John W. Bricker, his Republican opponent.

ROGERS CHOSEN STATE SENATOR

Republican Legislator Sweeps All Four Counties to Beat Brown by 8,800 Votes.

Piling up substantial majorities in all four counties in the 27th-29th district, P. H. Rogers of Grafton, Republican candidate for the state senate, won over Maurice C. Brown of Lorain, his Democratic opponent, by a margin of 8,860 votes on the basis of 318 of 324 precincts in yesterday's election.

The vote was 40,634 for Rogers and 31,774 for Brown. Medina county returned the largest majority for Rogers, giving him a 3,282 margin over Brown.

Richland county's voters gave Rogers 11,764 votes to 10,559 for Brown, a margin of 1,205.

Rogers' smallest margin was in Ashland county where he polled 725 votes more than his opponent. In Lorain county, home of both men, the Republican candidate defeated Brown by 3,553 votes in 135 of 138 precincts. The Lorain county vote was 16,425 for Rogers and 12,872 for Brown.

Rogers, who is serving his fifth consecutive two-year term in the Ohio house of representatives, campaigned on the platform of "no new taxes."

A comparative newcomer in politics, Brown is serving his first year in the Lorain city council. He was nominated over William F. Hurley of Lorain, Democratic incumbent, in a spirited race in the primary last August.

The incomplete vote in the four counties in the district was:

	Rogers	Brown
Richland county ..	11,764	10,559
Ashland county ..	6,101	5,281
*Lorain county ..	16,425	12,872

55 HOUSE SEATS AND 12 SENATE POSTS GO G. O. P.

Franklin and Lucas Counties Pick Solid Republican Assembly Delegates.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Election of a Republican-dominated legislature to work with John W. Bricker in his proposed governmental clean-up program after he becomes governor in January was in prospect today.

Incomplete returns from Tuesday's balloting showed the citizens had elected 55 Republicans and six Democrats to the Ohio house of representatives, which has a membership of 136. The Republicans, numbering 33 in the present house, captured 37 seats from the Democrats, who grabbed one from the Republicans.

G. O. P. Captures 12.

In the 35-member senate, where six Republicans now sit, the incomplete returns showed at least 12 Republicans would hold seats. No Democrats had been elected to the senate at this stage. The Republican gains in districts heretofore held by Democrats totaled 11.

Sen. Horace W. Baggott of Dayton, a leader of the senate "hatchet men" who opposed policies of Gov. Martin L. Davey in the present legislature, was among the Democrats defeated.

Franklin county turned out its entire delegation of two senators and six representatives and replaced them with Republicans. Lucas county elected a solid Republican delegation of two senators and five representatives.

Bishop Kilpatrick of Trumbull county, majority floor leader in the present house, and Al Kalb of Ottawa county, chairman of the house finance committee and Democratic whip, also were among the Democrats swept under by the Republican tide.

Voters in the 24th-26th district sent Republican Frank E. Whittemore of Akron back to the senate. He is author of an act bearing his name which permits the payments of delinquent taxes in installments.

SPIDERS HAVE FOE IN LIZARD

Black Widows Found to Be Choice Bit for Reptile.

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—A mortal enemy of the black widow spider and her eggs has been found by Dr. Raymond B. Cowles of the University of California at Los Angeles. It is a local lizard, known popularly as the alligator lizard.

Harmless to human beings, the lizard has been successfully used in Dr. Cowles' own home to eliminate the poisonous spiders. There's only one catch to the arrangement—while the lizards prey on the spiders, the common house cat preys on the lizards.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Is Our Air Force Good or Are We Being Kidded By Fancy Roto Pictures?

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I seem to be at my best when I am writing on matters which I know nothing about, so this one should be pretty good. This one wants to muddle around with the question whether this country is any good in the air at this time or just pretty good in theory or merely faking along, as in 1917, when our orators were going to darken the skies with planes.

Nobody seems to have a provable notion. Naturally the army and navy will say that they are right up on their stuff but could use some more money. But there are others with a right to respectable opinions who claim that the Germans can do things in the air that we can do only in cartoons and that this business of turning out one, two or six new jobs and claiming that our air forces are as good as these planes is sinfully misleading. That does seem like arguing that a chain is as strong as its weakest link, and perhaps the people are being kidded by those nice rotogravure shots of homeopathic orders which cannot be produced in quantity in time to catch up with the next development.

Go ahead and say I have been talking to Al Williams. So, all right. I have been talking to Williams, first about his experience as a ball player with McGraw, which is always good talking with anyone who had the brains to appreciate what McGraw said, and then about the German air strength, which was shown him during the summer.

Go ahead and say that Williams was virtually kicked out of the navy for refusing duty when he wouldn't go to sea on a straw boat and learn to say "deck" for "floor," "bulkhead" for "wall," and all such little affectations because he was a flier by trade and didn't want to be a sailor.

But I happen to remember talking with Fred Bitten, then a representative from Chicago and chairman of the naval affairs committee, and his saying that Al was a fresh young mug who needed to learn seafaring and something about the care and feeding of gobs and my asking why a flier should need such knowledge any more than a doctor should require a course in phrenology. That stopped him, and he fell back on the argument that a naval flier had to know the navy and an army flier the army, which is the old squabble all over again, because a lot of specialized air men know a lot more about their own stuff than any admiral or high-ranking foot soldier can be expected to, and their initiative and expert knowledge can be curbed and smothered under rank.

Just about here in the reminiscent vein something recalls a forgotten minority report by old Admiral Sims as a member of the board of visitors of the Naval academy, in which he pointed out that the navy firmly excludes some of the best young technical men in the country from its commissioned face by its slavish and crippling observance of the rank-and-numbers system dating from graduating day at Annapolis to the age of survey or retirement.

To get in line for promotion and pay in the navy, an officer must come through the Naval academy, which is only a glorified high school with a ripe "rah-rah" atmosphere, and a youth who has put in his time at Massachusetts Tech or some other high-grade technical school, and maybe has picked up a couple of years' practical experience on the outside, is by force of regulation and system deterred if not excluded from the service of the U. S. A. in a branch of the national defense which ought to have press gangs hanging around to shanghai such.

Men old enough to have acquired this education and practical experience are too old for the navy's kindergarten, and Admiral Sims went to town on the subject better than I have here, but I don't believe anything ever happened.

Anyway, Williams says a good technical man without an academy commission gets only a half-stripe at Pensacola and falls back of an Annapolis ensign on the list, with the result that fliers from the outside see no future in the navy and thus withhold from the aerial arm of that service talent which the country should and otherwise could have.

Admiral Sims, of course, wasn't thinking of fliers exclusively, if at all. He was thinking of the steamboat navy in the main.

Well, if this isn't the damndest piece. I start out about how are we doing for air service and wind up in a skiff.

At that, I probably don't know any less about it than most of us, and I doubt that many sane people still hold that a man must get stewed and tattooed in Singapore as a preliminary to a fair career in the air for the U. S. A.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—That rumbling and shaking you hear isn't an earthquake, it's just Dumas jitter-bugging in his grave.

"The Three Musketeers" are with us again and the Ritz Brothers are IT. That makes Dumas the patsy, except that—

Except for the Ritzes, it's being played straight. Accuracy in settings, costumes and all the trimmings is the rule. The romance of D'Artagnan (Don Ameche) and the lady Constance (Pauline Moore) is legitimately romantic. Binnie Barnes is the beautiful and wicked Milady de Winter, and Miles Mander an up-and-up Cardinal Richelieu. Besides all which, Zanuck is spending a million to make it a show. Besides all which, as they tell you on the lot, the three musketeers were really very funny fellows, weren't they?

I watched the boys rehearse a piece with John Carradine (playing a French tavern keeper) and it was funny business. But I'm more convinced than ever that the Ritzes can't keep still. If they could, maybe there wouldn't be any Ritzes. On the other hand, maybe they'd be funnier.

Alian Dwan is directing—and there's no doubt of that any more. Right at first, there was. Seems the Ritzes were trying to take over. Dwan held an informal session with the boys, straightened that matter out, and it's been smooth sailing ever since.

This Pauline Moore is an attractive lass. She has poise and beauty, both emphasized by the costuming. It's her first big role—but she isn't worried by it. She can't understand that, because up to now she's been one of the most jittery young actresses to set foot on a sound stage. Says so herself. All her other pictures bothered her. She'd go home and not be able to sleep, keep reciting lines from scripts, worry and stew about her next day's work. Working with the Ritzes—well, maybe it has a soothing effect on some people. Maybe she figures with them around nothing she does will matter anyway. She doesn't know.

Another nice gal is this Nancy Kelly, working opposite Tyrone Power in "Jesse James." Nancy retired at the ripe old age of eight from her first movie career, during which she appeared in 50-odd silent flickers. Returned, after stage successes, she's well on the way to her first 50 talkies.

They gave her the leading feminine role in "Submarine Patrol," and the day she finished she was put on the train for Missouri and the long location for "Jesse James." With that one not yet done, they had her double-timing in "Tailspin." First vacation she gets, if any, she'll hop to New York, for whose sidewalks she's pining something terrible. Maybe the trip back will cure her.

That's why Groucho Marx is back there now, for the cure. For four years Groucho has been exposed to the local climate with no let-up.

"I'm ripe for disillusionment," he said before packing up. "I'm hoping I'll see enough of New York so I won't think I'm missing anything when I get back here. No, I'm not going back to the stage. I've had enough for one lifetime. When they talk about footlights glamor, I'm deaf. I served my time at one-night stands—I'm through. If that's glamor, give me tapioca pudding!"

TO SHINE GLASS

This is a time of year when one wants to be particularly sure that windows and mirror glass are clean and shining. A simple way to achieve this is to rub the glass with a clean piece of cheese cloth dipped in glycerine and then polish well with a second cloth. The slight film of glycerine that remains on the glass prevents cooking steam and damp weather moisture from forming.

ELASTIC MATERIAL

That bugaboo of upholstered furniture, the recalcitrant spring that thrusts itself up in unexpected spots, has been put to rout finally and for all time in the new furniture being introduced by leading manufacturers this fall. The furniture is upholstered with insulated hair, which has been given a lasting resiliency and strength with a coating of liquid rubber, according to the designers. The material eliminates that "squashed-in" look which so frequently spoils the appearance of divans and upholstered chairs after a few months of use.

Miss Porter, who has won a number of national contests, and who has appeared at the Chicago World's fair, in concert in the larger cities and on the radio, will combine classical and semi-classical numbers for her part in the program.

She has announced the following numbers for her Mansfield appearance: "The Whirlwind" by Johann Schmid; Dvorak's Largo; "Le Secret" by Gautier; "The Scarf Dance," Kreisler's "Old Refrain" and two standard selections, "Somewhere A Voice Is Calling" and "Indian Love Call."

Miss MacIntosh is a Mansfield high school girl whose voice has already won recognition. She has appeared in Senior high school operettas and has been a member of the Congregational choir for two years.

HIGH-STYLE KITCHEN

In planning the modern home the kitchen comes in for just as much if not more attention than the living room and the modern kitchen is glorified from ceiling to floor. A model kitchen recently placed upon exhibition in New York has walls of vitrolite, a new type of glass which has somewhat the appearance of colored marble and can be kept spotless and shining merely by wiping off with a wet cloth. A useful and thoroughly practical gadget in this kitchen is a glass pastry board which was built into the work table adjacent to the sink.

Sorority Honors Recent Bride

Mrs. John Bissman, the former Miss Elizabeth Weinert was feted last night at a bridge party when members of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority met at the home of Mrs. Gene Zediker, Russell road. The group presented the recent bride with a gift.

Miss Janet Olin, social chairman, was named to the committee in charge of the dance which will be held Dec. 23 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, jointly with the Ashland chapter. Those who will assist her are the Misses Aleen Hughes, Beatrice Kochenderfer and Betty Hout.

The next regular meeting will be Nov. 22 at the home of the Misses Jane and Dorothy Bacon, Parkwood boulevard.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE Bad Breath

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing cannot get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.
